

I am pro-5th ammendment. If the radio stations have the money to air, they should be allowed to air what they choose, not what is being dicated to them. In the same way, each person has the right to change the station if they do not like or agree with what is being said, and they surely don't have to put their personal money into a station that they don't like. I have worked in a country that has been raped by the communism and I see America headed into the same trap where there is over control of person rights under the gise of supporting communal rights. The No.04-233 is a frightening indicator of where America is headed.
