Dear FCC:

No merger?

The duopoly will have to raise prices and reduce consumer friendly, but non-productive, content.

If siri raises their price to 19.95, and xm follows 10 minutes later, who's going to stop them? Not the FCC, not the DOJ...they are after all, losing money hand over fist, and certainly have not been helped by the almost criminal consideration going on day after day, month after month, year after year....while their competition keeps improving.

High school courses on Government should study this merger...to learn how our corrupt institutions and representative really operate.

Thanks.....have to go vomit now.....

Sincerely,

John Carella
