

III. DETERMINATION OF LOCAL NEEDS AND INTERESTS

In the Localism Report, the Commission concludes that the need exists to “improve the communication between broadcast licensees and their local communities.” To that end, the Commission has proposed that each broadcaster be required to form a “permanent advisory board”, comprised of “officials and other leaders from the [station’s] service area”. The questions in this section seek information about the ways in which licensees maintain contact with their communities and determine the local needs and interests to be addressed in the station’s programming.

1. Advisory Boards

Do you currently consult with a formal “advisory board” composed of representatives of your station’s community of license as an aid to determining the community’s needs and interests that could or should be addressed in the station’s programming?

Yes No

If yes, describe: (a) how and when the advisory board was established; (b) how and by whom its members are selected; (c) how (and how often) the advisory board and the licensee communicate with one another (e.g., regular in-person meetings, memoranda, telephone calls, etc.); (d) the extent to which the advisory board’s input has influenced the station’s programming.

2. Determining Community Needs and Interests

- (a) Describe any other ways in which you affirmatively seek to determine the community needs and interests to be addressed in the station's programming. Such efforts may include formal or informal inquiries made to local officials or community representatives. Include in your description a brief discussion of the results of such efforts (i.e., how often the station's affirmative efforts to determine community needs and interests have resulted in programming directed to such needs and interests).

A large, empty rectangular box with a thin black border, intended for the respondent to provide a detailed answer to the question regarding community needs and interests.

- (b) Apart from any affirmative efforts the station might make (as described in the preceding question), is the station contacted by any local officials, community representatives or members of the public with requests or suggestions that the station address particular local needs and interests? If so, describe such contacts, including: (i) how often such contacts are received; (ii) from whom the contacts are received; (iii) to whom the contacts are made; (iv) the way(s) in which such contacts are made (e.g., by telephone, in-person contact, e-mail, etc.); (v) the process (if any) with which such contacts are reported internally within the station and acted on; and (vi) the extent to which such contacts lead to the production of programming addressed to community needs and interests.

- (c) Are station representatives (including both management and/or non-management personnel) actively involved in community activities? If so, provide a brief description of the nature and extent of such activities, and a summary of the extent to which (if at all) such involvement influences the station's programming addressed to local needs and interests.

A large, empty rectangular box with a thin black border, intended for the respondent to provide a detailed answer to question (c). The box is currently blank.

- (d) Describe any other ways, formal or informal, in which station representatives inform themselves of the needs and interests of the station's community of license.

A large, empty rectangular box with a thin black border, intended for the respondent to provide their answer to question (d). The box is currently blank.

IV. Other Matters

The Localism Report addresses a very wide range of operational questions. While the issues of studio site location, unattended operation and determination of community needs and interests appear to be the items likely to have the greatest impact on broadcasters, information about other items may prove useful in responding to certain aspects of the Localism Report.

1. Emergency Alerts

Does the station maintain direct contact with local and state public safety officials (e.g., police and fire departments, emergency management agencies, etc.) to assure the ability of such officials to contact the station should the need arise to alert the public to emergency health/safety concerns?

<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Yes	No

If yes, describe briefly the steps taken to assure such contact. For example, in addition to station telephone numbers (including unpublicized "hot-line" numbers), have local and state public safety officials been provided with personal contact information for appropriate station personnel, including management personnel, in order to facilitate their ability to reach such personnel as necessary? If the station operates "unattended" at any time, describe how public safety officials contact the station during such times.

2. Program Reporting

In an action adopted last November, the Commission has imposed on television licensees an extensive program reporting requirement. In the Localism Report and elsewhere the Commission has indicated that it intends to impose a similar requirement on radio licensees in the near future. A description of the detailed reporting requirements (set out in FCC Form 355, for TV licensees) is available at the FHH website at:

http://www.fhhlaw.com/memo_clients/2008/Meet%20Form%20355.pdf

Please take a look at those requirements and indicate below whether your existing program-related record-keeping systems, as they are presently maintained, would enable your station to complete Form 355.

<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Yes	No

If "no", describe below what additional record-keeping measures (e.g., detailed program logging, etc.) would have to be implemented – and at what estimated cost – in order to enable you to comply with that reporting requirement.

Localism Questionnaire
March, 2008

3. Voice Tracking

In the Localism Report, the Commission indicates that concern about the practice of “voice-tracking” has been expressed. As defined by the Commission, “voice-tracking” is “a practice by which stations import popular out-of-town personalities from bigger markets to smaller ones, customizing their programming to make it appear as if the personalities are actually local residents.” The Commission has requested comments relative to the prevalence of this practice.

Do you engage in the practice of “voice-tracking” as defined by the FCC?

Yes

No

If yes, provide details of such “voice-tracking” (e.g., frequency of its use and the considerations underlying it, including cost factors and effect of the practice on the station’s ability to serve the local community of license).

4. Local Artists

The Commission has indicated that it may require licensees – particularly radio licensees – to routinely submit to the FCC “data regarding their airing of the music and other performances of local artists and how they compile their stations’ playlists”.

Do you broadcast the music and/or performances of any artists who are “local” to your station’s community of license?

Yes No

If “yes”, do you maintain records of such broadcasts?

Yes No

If you do not currently maintain such records, describe any burdens (e.g., cost, record-keeping maintenance, etc.) that would likely be imposed in order to do so.

Dear Larry and Debbie,

On behalf of United Way of Southeast Mississippi, the Greater Hattiesburg Home Builders Association and Leaf River Cellulose, we want to thank you for the publicity that Blakeney Communications gave our 6th Annual Home Sweet Home Raffle. Since the beginning of this project several years ago, your radio promotion has been a reason for the raffle's success, and we are extremely grateful to you. We appreciate the public service announcement that you produce and the large amount of coverage you provide. We also want to thank you for the live remote you aired from the house and the information you provided on your website and in your newsletter.

Thanks to your help, our raffle was the biggest success yet! We sold almost 4,500 tickets! This project raised a substantial amount of money for our 21 United Way agencies here in our community. We couldn't have done it without the help of caring people like you.

Dear Debbie,

It has been a while since United in Song, our concert with Southern Miss alumna Lena Clark, Patti LaBelle, Dionne Warwick, and so many more talented artists. I apologize for the lateness of this note, as I have since gone on to several other projects here at the orchestra. But I want to thank you for donating advertising time on your radio stations in the weeks leading up to the event. Adequate funding for publicity is always an issue for us when we have an event of this size and importance, and you have helped us with a perfect solution. The commercials you produced were of a high quality, and we could not have asked for more.

Again, please accept my most sincere heartfelt thanks for the wonderful support you have shown to me and the Southern Mississippi Symphony Orchestra. If I can be of any assistance to you, please do not hesitate to contact me at 601.266.4001 or jay.dean@usm.edu.

Thank you for the sponsorship of B-95, Solid Gospel 96.5, Rock 104 and KZ 94 for the 2007 Fireworks Celebration held July 3rd. The 30 second spots that ran on all four stations were of great value in publicizing each of the sponsors. In addition, we appreciate the opportunity to talk about the Fireworks Celebration on the morning shows.

I hope you will consider sponsoring the event again next year. This family oriented event has had a positive economic impact on Laurel and Jones County businesses. With your continued support, we hope this event will grow and contribute to our community for many years to come.

Dear Mr. Fletcher,

I am writing you regarding radio stations KFUN/AM and KLVF/FM in Las Vegas New Mexico and their contributions to community issues and concerns. I am Chief Planning Officer for El Centro Family Health, a federally and state funded community health center that serves mostly low income and uninsured patients in northern New Mexico.

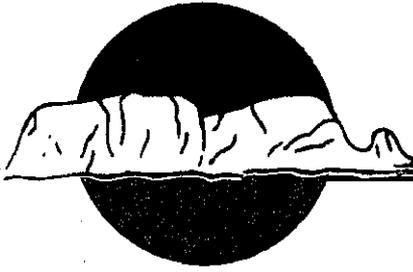

I can attest that Mr. Joseph Baca, the owner of these stations is truly a community advocate who has done his best to provide access to the airwaves for non-profit groups like ours to communicate to the community. We have frequently used the morning show "Over the Back Fence" to let people Las Vegas and surrounding areas about health programs or issues, and even fundraising events. We also have purchased paid advertising, but I can tell you that Mr. Baca helps us stretch our limited resources by giving us some extra spots on top of what we buy.

Please consider this community service which only comes from small, locally owned family businesses such as this one in the context of proposed rule changes for broadcasters. It would be a shame and a loss if they were negatively impacted by requirements that would impact their ability to survive. I am happy to support Baca Broadcasting and small radio stations like his, because they have been there for us and our patients who rely on us.

Sincerely

Dan Burke

To Whom It May Concern:

Please accept this communication as a letter of support for the KFUN/KLVF radio station. As the Mayor of The City of Las Vegas and a life long resident of the city we have found that KFUN & KLVF radio has been a valued tool to inform the Citizens of Las Vegas on issues of concern.

The radio station KFUN & KLVF has met the needs in our community for 40 years by featuring our community oriented "Over The Back Fence" talk show which the city has always utilized as a way of keeping the community informed about city matters. Also, over two years ago, KFUN established the program, "What's Cooking at City Hall", for the main purpose of informing the community about city issues.

In addition to keeping the citizens of Las Vegas informed of upcoming events and programs, KFUN/KLVF assists in announcing closings and delays due to weather for the safety of our citizens.

It is for those reasons that the City of Las Vegas whole heartily supports KLVF/KFUN.

Dear Mr. Baca

The Board of County Commissioners of San Miguel County would like to take this opportunity to thank you for the opportunity to present to your listening audience the issues relative to County Government.

The Board of County Commissioners recognizes the fact KFUN/AM and KLVF/FM have historically provided the opportunity for all governmental agencies within the area to present items of interest to the community over the airwaves at anytime. The long standing Over the Back Fence program offers the opportunity for Local Governments, Businesses and Residents to present information to the community every workday. Thank you for the use of your radio station to reach the constituents of San Miguel County.

I submit this letter on behalf of the Board of County Commissioners. As, County Manager, I have always taken the opportunity to present County issues over your radio station to inform the residents of San Miguel County of what is going on in County Government and not once have I been denied this opportunity. The County has always been accepted, and treated with respect and professionalism while delivering our message to those individuals listening, We want to thank you for your continued Public Service within our area.

Dear Mr. Cole,

I take this opportunity to explain my interaction with KFUN/KLVF radio stations and offer this letter as our support for the station. KFUN/KLVF offers the community an open door policy for discussing and sharing community events, concerns and community awareness. For the past 18 years, that I have been in this community, the station has been openly involved with the community. They allow our agency to either record public safety announcements or to speak live on the air. This station has deep roots in the community and I am often amazed at how many people hear what we broadcast over the station.

Our agency has an excellent relationship with the station and relies heavily on the station to educate and inform the community.

Dear Mr. Cole

This is a letter of support for KFUN/AM & KLVF/FM in reference to meeting the needs of the community through an Advisory Board. These radio stations are an important part of our community.

We have found programs such as "Over The Back Fence" and "What's Cooking at City Hall" useful to inform the public on Fire Prevention, July Fourth Fire Works Safety, and Preparation of fire place chimneys for the winter, just to name a few. These programs along with their Community Bulletin Board have also been useful to the City of Las Vegas Fire Department in informing the public of special events that may be occurring.

We have and will continue to use their programs to keep our community informed. If you have any questions, feel free to contact me at 425-6321 ext. 11.

Dear Mr. Cole,

This correspondence is to inform you that I believe, in my capacity as a Superintendent of Schools in our community, that KFUN/KLVF Radio currently is and has been addressing community concerns and issues and that these two items are being included in this radio station's daily programming.

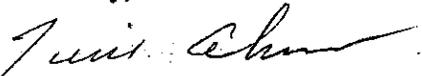

There are three venues that our public schools in the area utilize at the radio station to address community concerns and issues regarding education. The first is a daily morning radio program called "Over the Back Fence," which has been a staple in our community spanning four decades. I have utilized this radio program many times in the past year to inform my constituents in the West Las Vegas Public School District about plans, programs, staffing and many other issues of concern.

The second venue is a bi-weekly radio program put on by KFUN/KLVF that features another school district superintendent. He informs his district and the community of happenings in his schools. I have been a regular contributor to his program as we share many of the same concerns and issues in education.

The third venue is a Saturday morning call-in program hosted by local personalities who have ties to the local Peace and Justice Center. I have been invited to this program to share information and take questions from local people who are curious about what and how we are accomplishing our job in the schools.

We also utilize our local KFUN/KLVF radio station to broadcast notices of special events and to broadcast our local sports teams' competitions in football and basketball. We announce weather-related school closings or delays on this radio station. It is a vital part of our community and it provides exceptional service to our part of the world. If you have any questions or would like additional information, please feel free to contact me.
