

Free Speech is Essential to Democracy.

Unless the FCC prevents the handful of giant telcos who own the Internet backbone in this country from pricing opposition speech off the Internet, the American public will be left with high-speed access on demand to government and corporate propaganda and zero information accessible via the Internet that is true, undistorted, and exposes ruling class lies for what they are.