Dear FCC:

Over the past few months, I have been closely keeping tabs on the pending merger of XM Radio and Sirius Satellite Radio. In this growing digital media driven age, I have come to the realization that satellite plays a role in a larger medium - and will only serve to help add choice and competition in a very cutthroat market.

I was excited to see the approval of the merger by the Dept. of Justice - and I would like the FCC to follow suit. I encourage you to do the same on behalf of Americans that want better digital media products - or at least to have a larger spectrum of choice in the matter of delivery and content.

Thank you for your time,

Dave Khey
