Dear Mr. Martin:

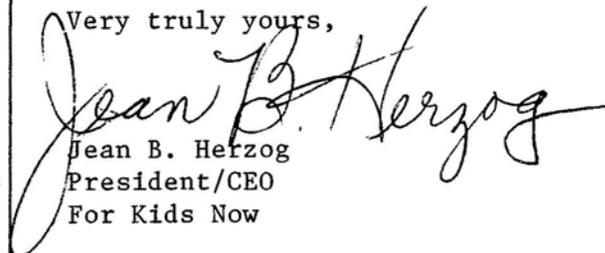

I am the President and CEO of a 501(c)(3) children's charity, For Kids Now. We are all volunteers and have no patrons so all funding that we raise is very important to us. Without the radio interviews little would be known about us and what we do. I have personally been on CBS Radio Talk Show<sup>s</sup>two times and received many telephone calls after the show was aired.

With no monies available in our budget for advertising we rely heavily upon this media to get the word out. Interviews have been held with the President and her signer, for the Charter School of the Deaf which through our continuous funding will be opening the first classroom of its kind here in Las Vegas in August.

Radio talk shows give our charities here in Las Vegas an invaluable opportunity worth many dollars, which we otherwise could not afford. Our organization is now turning its attention to autism and we will be doing a talk show in the future on this subject with the director of the Autism Enlightenment Clinic only recently opening its doors. The benefit of working with local talk host, Herbert W. Perry, CPA has been tremendous.

Thank you for the opportunity to voice my opinion.

Very truly yours,

Jean B. Herzog
