Dear Sir:

On behalf of St. Vincent's Center, I am writing to express our appreciation of CBS Radio Baltimore's on-going efforts to support the children in our care. We look forward to CBS Radio Baltimore's continued support through the upcoming years.

As you may know, St. Vincent's Center is a large therapeutic residential program in Timonium, Maryland. At any given time, we have 70 or more children residing here. The children can range in age from 3 to 13 years old. Almost all of the children of St. Vincent's Center have suffered terrible abuses for most of their young lives. Most have been severely physically and emotionally abused. Most have suffered severe neglect and poverty. And most are being treated for sexual abuse issues also. Life has been very difficult and unfair to them. Most of these children have witnessed and experienced extreme violence and cruelty.

Most of these boys and girls have also suffered multiple foster-care placement failures prior to being admitted to St. Vincent's Center. Currently, the average number of foster care placement failures for each child prior to being admitted to SVC, number six to a dozen foster homes. These foster families, meaning well, welcome the child into their home, telling them, "Here is your new grandmother, etc....", and then after a few months, or weeks, the family realizes that they are not equipped to deal with the child's serious emotional issues and behaviors.

So the child once again feels rejected, and then it is on to the next family, and the next, until at last the child is brought to St. Vincent's Center. When they come to us they are suffering from separation anxiety and they are grieving the loss of family. They have missed out on most of the fun, carefree times that most other children can take for granted.

These special boys and girls often feel that they do not deserve a family or any nice things in their lives. They often believe that they are "bad" people and that they are not worthy of love and care. It is not unusual to find that these children do not believe that they are capable of doing good things or having good things happen to them now, or in the future.

At St. Vincent's Center we try to help these children to feel safe. We try to help them learn that the abuse that they have suffered and survived was not their fault. We tell them that we understand their anger, fear, and sadness, and that they have a right to their feelings. We strive to teach them that there are good ways to get these bad feelings out without hurting others or themselves. We let them know that we believe in them and their ability to make positive choices and changes to improve their lives.

We also try very hard to rescue and restore as much "normal" childhood joy, magic, and wonder as we can. We could not do this without the help from caring hearts in the community. As a non-profit agency, we rely heavily on our wonderful volunteers and donors to help us provide these children with all of the extras - such as fun times, special attention, and wonderful experiences.

The counselors and therapists here have heard children disclose their horror stories of the true-life nightmares that they have survived. That is why the kindness that people in the community show to these special boys and girls means so much, not only to the children, but to the staff here as well. We all cherish the times when the children are able to forget their troubles for awhile and smile like other children who have not had to live through such hardships.

The children love it when caring people like the folks of CBS Radio Baltimore reach out to St. Vincent's Center to make positive differences. It is very healing for them to know that there are grown-ups in this world who care for them and want to help them to believe in themselves and enjoy themselves. We need good dedicated individuals to band together to use the light of their spirits to confront the darkness of child abuse.

Sincerely,

Cyndi Mitchell-Summers

Dear Chairman Martin,

I am writing to you today on behalf of our board to share with you our experience with CBS Radio in Baltimore. We have dealt with CBS since our Foundation started in 2004 and have always had a very good working relationship.

CBS Radio has been our radio sponsor for our 4 day celebrity golf tournament and has always gone above and beyond what they original promised to help promote this event. In addition, they take the initiative to help us raise additional funds for our Cool Kids Campaign, which raises funds for kids with cancer. This is done through silent auctions at various sites around town and on-air.

We look forward to continuing our relationship with CBS Radio as they understand what it truly means to help those who help others. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me at 410-560-1770.

Dear Chairman:

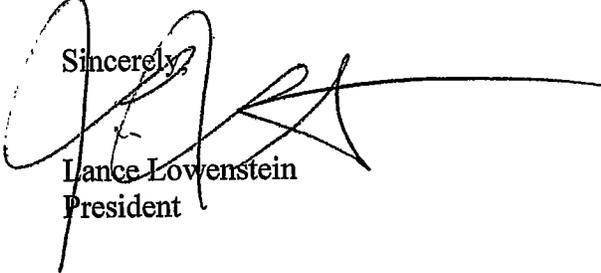

My company has been working with CBS Radio in the Baltimore market for the past 10 years. Over the course of these years, we have seen time and time again the wonderful contributions that CBS Radio has provided to the market in both civic and community participation.

We are involved in four events each year that include Career Fairs, Children's seasonal events that combine education / support services and fun as well as community wide events like Taste of Baltimore and HFStival. All of these events have a fundraising tie-in to local non-profits in our area.

The community on the whole truly benefits from the work CBS Radio provides to Baltimore. This has included monetary contributions to local charities, family entertainment and educational services.

Should you require any additional information, please do not hesitate to contact me at the numbers listed below.

Dear Mr. Martin

We would like to take this opportunity to inform you and your office of our appreciation to CBS Radio Baltimore, WHFS 105.7 and Ms. Donna Jean Rumbley, Senior Director of Marketing, for their ongoing efforts in supporting our Widows & Orphans Fund, Inc.

Our Union represents approximately 1300 active members, 1000 retirees and over 300 widows. As recently as December 2007, the station sponsored an auction that raised several thousand dollars for our Fund.

We look forward to their continued support in the upcoming 2008-2009 season.

Dear Chairman Martin:

On behalf of the National Federation of the Blind, I would like to express my gratitude for the support offered to us by WHFS 105.7, and WLIF 101.9, in the promotion of our 2008 Celebration held on Friday, April 4, 2008. CBS Radio's generous media sponsorship provided us with a wonderful opportunity to raise awareness and increase attendance at this year's event through its promotion of our event. Nearly 600 people attended this event, representing an increase over last year's Celebration by more than 100 people.

The event, celebrating the National Federation of the Blind's thirty years of history in Baltimore, was a great success. The 2008 Celebration net income is projected at more than $115,000 and will be used for NFB Jernigan Institute projects such as our summer Junior Science Academy. This five-day academy, focusing on children in grades three through six, will engage and inspire the youngest generation of blind youth ever to consider careers in science, technology, engineering, and math (STEM).

Once again, let me say how happy we are that CBS Radio in Baltimore offered promotional time to help publicize our annual fundraiser. Enclosed for your information is a 2008 Celebration program book.

Dear Chairman Martin:

I am writing this letter in appreciation of the community service performed by 101.9 LITE FM WLIF on behalf of the Maryland Affiliate of Susan G. Komen for the Cure.

The fact we have a long standing relationship with WLIF is a tribute to their genuine commitment to our cause to end breast cancer forever. Many corporate sponsors rotate their support between various non profits in the community. Not only has WLIF consistently represented us for many years, their commitment has actually grown.

WLIF's support has most prominently been heard during the annual Komen Maryland Race for the Cure fundraising event through public service announcements, public affairs programming, interviews with breast cancer survivors and promotional announcements soliciting registration for the race. If you listen to the station during race season for any period of time you will hear commentary about Komen Maryland and the importance of participating in the race. Their interviews with breast cancer survivors held people captive in their cars, listening to the stories, after people arrived at their destination.

On Race Day, WLIF broadcasts live from the race theater in addition to staffing three different locations including the finish line. Radio personalities announce the names of survivors as they cross the line. This is particularly meaningful for a survivor to hear their name as they cross the line. It is very moving and has become a significant feature of our race.

Relationships between Komen Maryland and local for profit organizations truly define how successful we can be. With 101.9 LITE FM WLIF as our partner we won the Affiliate of the Year Award in 2007. This exemplary partnership sets a precedent in the community as a role model for civic spirit and duty. It is our privilege to partner again in 2008 with WLIF for the Komen Maryland Race for the Cure.

Most sincerely,

Robin Prothro, MPH, BSN

Dear Mr. Martin,

Please accept this letter on behalf of the Maryland SPCA, which should demonstrate to you the commitment that 101.9 LITE FM WLIF has made to our organization over the years.

The relationship began over 12 years ago with our "March for the Animals" fundraiser. Since then, 101.9 has been a media sponsor of the event each and every year. Their promotion has been so incredibly valuable to the event and has directly helped it grow from a fundraiser grossing $40,000 in 1997 to over $375,000 in 2008. 101.9 has very kindly provided PSA's to promote the event. In addition, we have been fortunate enough to be featured on their community radio show.

The day of the event, 101.9 DJ's have volunteered as celebrity guest judges for our pet costume contests in addition to emceeing the entire event. Their presence at the March for the Animals is certainly a crowd pleaser. The crowd itself has grown from just 500 participants in 1997 to nearly 6,000 last year.

In addition to supporting our largest fundraiser, the March for the Animals, 101.9 has been a wonderful friend to the Maryland SPCA in many other ways. They have donated their sound systems for our summer happy hours here at the shelter. They donate promotional items which we use as giveaways for our volunteers. They donate tickets to our volunteers for the biggest pet event in our area, the World of Pets Expo. These tickets are so important to us because it allows us to send our volunteers to the event to staff our SPCA vendor table.

In addition, CBS radio has launched their "Paws for a Cause" page off of their website, which features our adoptable shelter dogs. Through the Paws for a Cause page, they have also introduced us to a new veterinary hospital in town, who in turn has volunteered their services for our events and held an adopt-a-thon for us.

I can not say enough about the many contributions that 101.9 and CBS radio have made to the Maryland SPCA throughout the years. If our animals could talk, they would surely say thank you.

Dear Mr. Martin,

Literacy Works, Inc., a non-profit organization whose mission is to increase adult and family in metropolitan Baltimore, is most grateful to WLIF Radio (101.9 LITE FM) for constant support in our fundraising efforts and its ongoing assistance is furthering the importance of its literacy for the economic, social, medical and educational benefit of our entire community.

For several years WLIF Radio has provided public service announcements to the community to recruit adult students and volunteers for our programs. Their ads have expanded our ability to reach those undereducated adults who need our services as well as those who want to become volunteer tutors and/or classroom assistants. The radio station through its public affairs programming has interviewed either a board member or me several time to talk about the epidemic issues of illiteracy and what Literacy Works is doing to help.

In our fundraising efforts, WLIF Radio has provided public service announcements for the promotion of our special events. For several years, BOOK BASH, our premier event in a bookstore with 50 authors, food, entertainment and an auction that attracts over 600 guests, has been advertised and free tickets with "call-ins" have been offered. WLIF also has promoted "Breakfast with Cal Ripken" and "Breakfast with Ron Shapiro". In all cases the proceeds of these events has provided revenue for our programs.

All this wonderful support by WLIF Radio has brought the issue of illiteracy to the public and has helped us to raise the much-needed funds to provide adult literacy services and programs. Without ongoing commitment of WLIF Radio, our mission would be harder to fulfill.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Martin,

I would like to take this opportunity, on behalf of the March of Dimes, to recognize Mix 106.5 for their partnership in the 2008 March for Babies campaign. This year's event was amazing as 8,000 members of the Greater Baltimore community marched in support of our mission, to improve the health of babies by preventing birth defects, premature birth and infant mortality. Mix 106.5, as our sole radio partner, provided us with placements of our PSA as well as other on-air announcements. Steve Lester was on hand the day of the event to greet our supporters. The presence of media, particularly the support of Mix 106.5, is a crucial component in the success of our event and communicating our mission in the community. Mix 106.5's sponsorship validates to their listeners, the importance of our mission to improve the health of babies.

We look forward to future partnerships with Mix 106.5 as we work towards the day when all babies are born healthy. In Maryland, 191 babies per week are born too soon. We are working feverishly against this crisis and wholly appreciate the ongoing civic spirit of Mix 106.5 and their assistance with communicating our mission.

Dear Chairman Martin,

It is my pleasure on behalf of the Johns Hopkins Children's Center to share with you our admiration and appreciation for the role that Mix 106.5 plays in engaging and improving the Baltimore community.

Mix 106.5 has been our long-time partner in raising funds and awareness for pediatric healthcare. Mix 106.5 took the initiative and approached Hopkins Children's with the innovative idea of holding an annual Radiothon event to raise money for the children and families we serve. Next spring we will celebrate our twentieth Radiothon anniversary. This event has raised millions of dollars over the years, and has become the model for hundreds of Radiothon's across this country and internationally.

Mix 106.5 has demonstrated a deep commitment to helping the community and serving people. They collaborate with Hopkins Children's on a variety of events throughout the year, and are always willing to go above and beyond to help people and organizations in need. We have witnessed their desire to help and their dedication to various health, social, and other important causes. This passion for serving people and our community is exhibited by every person who works at Mix 106.5, and the strong relationships they have built.

In essence, words can not express our deep appreciation and respect for this radio station. The Mix 106.5 team are truly wonderful role models for using their talents to give back selflessly. Their advocacy and effectiveness serves as a reminder to the public that we all need to work together to help the people and places we share a backyard with. It is in this way that their impact is even more powerful and lasting.

Dear Mr. Martin,

All of here at Best Buddies owe a huge debt of gratitude and appreciation to WBCN and the CBS radio group in Boston. Almost ten years ago, we initiated a fundraising cycling ride in the market, which has gone on to become a huge annual fundraiser for our organization benefitting the people with intellectual disabilities whom we serve.

Over the years, this ride -- The Best Buddies Challenge: Hyannis Port -- has raised in excess of 15 million dollars, and clearly this would never have happened without loyal support of key media partners. Given the world of shifty loyalties and short lived associations, the long term event promotion of this high end cycling ride year after year by WBCN has provided media support unprecedented in the the history of Best Buddies.

We are so happy to continue this association with one of Boston's legendary stations, and are sure there are many other great causes in the market that have benefited from WBCN's incredible community support as well.

Dear Chairman Martin,

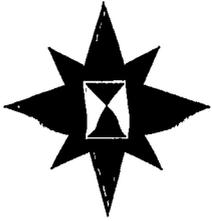

I am writing on behalf of WBCN-FM radio station and their fine work in giving organizations like Sabre Foundation an opportunity to spread the word about their work.

As a nonprofit organization that donates new books, CD-ROMs and other educational materials to developing and/or war-torn countries around the world, it's critical to get our mission and message out to the public. WBCN's public affairs programming allows us to do that and we greatly appreciate the air time and resultant publicity.

Dear Mr. Martin,

I am writing to confirm and to appreciate the fine community service work done by WBCN radio.

Several times a years, I have been invited to discuss a range of issues related to world peace and national security on WBCN's Boston Sunday Morning Review program. On other occasions, people I have recommended to the program, including Iraq veterans and Middle East scholars have also been interviewed on this program. The interviews done by Mat Schaffer on this program are consistently thoughtful, probing, and I believe contribute to both our real security and to the democratic process.

I have also been struck by the subjects addressed by people interviewed before and after me on this program, which are of enormous community service. Among other subjects, these have included medical information important to retaining healthy eye sight, suicide prevention, and public art. I have found each of these interviews educative and very helpful.

Chairman Martin,

I am writing to commend WBCN radio here in Boston for their ongoing support of the work of the Multicultural AIDS Coalition. Over the past five years, WBCN has consistently collaborated with MAC on promoting awareness of HIV/AIDS and encouraging individuals to know their status and seek care.

I and others on my staff have been frequent interview guests on the station's informative Sunday magazine show, allowing us an opportunity to talk about diverse topics related to impact of HIV on communities both domestically and internationally. This is invaluable air time for any nonprofit agency, but especially for HIV/AIDS organizations like MAC who struggle to combat declining focus on the devastation of the disease.

Mat Schaffer, the host of the show, has been particularly supportive of MAC, serving our board of directors and playing a critical role in helping the organization increase its visibility and secure additional private funding.

We are very grateful for WBCN's interest and investment of time in our work. They have been a great community partner for MAC and the communities we serve.

Dear Chairman Martin:

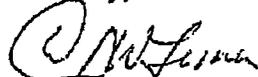

I am writing to let you know about the tremendous support Cha Chi Loprete and WBCN have afforded to us in the last decade.

We are a non-profit, no-kill animal shelter. We accept cats and dogs from numerous sources, spay and neuter them, and then arrange for their placement in loving homes. Our staff and volunteers are extremely dedicated and take it as a personal mission to make the most frightened, aloof or ailing animal feel welcomed. There is no time limit on how long a dog or cat can stay at the shelter - we have had animals stay for over a year before they find the perfect new home. And most importantly, the staff never gives up on trying to place an animal.

We receive no local, state or national funding. We do extensive fundraising, without which Baypath would not be able to care for the nearly 1100 dogs and cats that come to us each year. In past years Cha Chi has served as our auctioneer at an auction we ran annually. Not only did Cha Chi give us his time, he always brought many auction items. These items included concert tickets and memorabilia which always brought in more money for our charity than items we procured elsewhere. The highlight every auction was the buzz generated by Cha Chi's arrival and the excitement for the items he brought. In more recent years, we have conducted a dog walk fundraiser. Again, Cha Chi has arranged concert tickets for us to auction along with sundry raffle items.

Cha Chi's and WBCN's kindness and continued generosity, friendship and support are invaluable to our survival. We can't thank Cha Chi or WBCN enough.

Dear Mr. Martin:

On behalf of the Department of Social Services and the needy children we serve, I want to express our deep thanks to Mix 98.5 WBMX/CBS Radio for the station's wonderful support for our 2007 Foster Children's Holiday Gift Drive. The radio station staff and listeners' great kindness and generosity helped to make hundreds of the children we serve feel cared about and remembered. As they opened their gifts, the children's happiness reflected the commitment and caring of the staff and listeners of Mix 98.5. I especially want to extend a special thanks to Mark Calandrello, Promotion Director and Kristen Chamberlain, Promotions Coordinator for their tremendous efforts to ensure that each child had a holiday filled with hope and promise.

Year after year, the generosity and dedication extended by Mix 98.5 bring hope and encouragement at the holiday season to our Commonwealth's most vulnerable children. The compassion of the Mix 98.5 wonderful team shows these children that they are considered very special and worthy. This especially means a great deal to children who are experiencing very difficult life circumstances. We are extremely grateful to Mix 98.5 for giving the children holiday joy and making their dreams come true.

We look forward to working with the station again for the upcoming holiday season!

Dear Chairman Martin,

On behalf of the Make-A-Wish Foundation® of Massachusetts, I would like to thank Mix 98.5 for their generous donation of concert tickets in support of our fundraising efforts, especially our Annual Make-A-Wish Golf Tournament. On July 21, 2008 after a day of golfing our golfers will participate in a silent auction where they will bid on tickets donated to us from Mix 98.5. Net proceeds from this event will allow us to grant the heartfelt wishes of children facing life-threatening medical conditions in the coming year.

As you may know, the Foundation's sole purpose is to grant the wishes of children between the ages of 2½ and 18 years of age who have been diagnosed with a life-threatening illness. Although we know a wish cannot make an ill child well, wishes do provide hope and a happy diversion from the routine of difficult medical treatments, doctors, and hospital visits. Wish experiences also create feelings of hope, strength, and joy in wish children and in all the people they touch.

It is through Mix 98.5's generous support that we move closer to realizing our ultimate vision — to share the special power of a wish with every eligible child in our community. Each year, approximately 400 children in our state are newly diagnosed with life-threatening medical conditions. We are inspired by the privilege of reaching and serving more brave children in the year ahead — and we are motivated by Mix 98.5's partnership and support.

We are so very appreciative of Mix 98.5's support over the past two years. Thank you again for partnering with us to make a difference in the lives of our wish children!

Dear Chairman Martin,

On behalf of Big Sister Association of Greater Boston, I am writing to recognize the support we have received for more than a year from WBMX-FM. In a time when girls are in need of champions, and non-profits are competing for limited resources, MIX has come forward as a true champion of the work we do matching Greater Boston's girls with strong, positive female mentors.

MIX began working with Big Sister in January of 2007 when Mike Mullaney interviewed me on his New England Lifestyle show, to create increased awareness of mentoring and the need for girls to have positive role models. This in-depth interview not only brought attention to the fact that our work is unique in its focus on the social, emotional, and developmental needs of girls, but it also resulted in women signing up to become mentors. The station has continued its relationship with us in 2008 by helping to promote our annual fundraising event, the Celebrity Chef Dinner at Radius Restaurant, which raised more than $100,000 for our mentoring programs. MIX will also be lending its support to us this summer in promoting our 20th Annual BMW Raffle, which is integral to our fundraising efforts.

We view MIX as a valuable media partner, who is willing to step up to the plate not only for our organization, but for all of our City's girls. We look forward to continuing this relationship in the future.

Sincerely,

Dear Chairman Martin,

On behalf of the American Cancer Society, I am writing to applaud the efforts of WBMX-FM in Boston for its efforts to raise awareness about cancer in our community.

Since July of last year, the MIX promotions and programming team have welcomed the Society into the family, and have offered public affairs programming, public service announcements, web links, and email blasts to assist with a variety of our campaigns and initiatives.

We began working with MIX around the Daffodil Days[®] fundraiser this spring, and were recently invited back to the studio for an interview about our Relay For Life[®] events and to promote public enrollment in a cancer research study, Cancer Prevention Study-3. In addition, with each interview I have felt that we have been afforded the opportunity to broaden the discussion and provide listeners with an overview of each of the Society's priority areas and volunteer needs, while still staying focused on the topic of the day.

Partnerships such as these are vital to the work of any non-profit group, and certainly in the case of the American Cancer Society, they are critical to raising awareness in such a competitive marketplace.

Each interaction with the MIX staff has been pleasurable and even easy, as they are eager to assist for the good of the cause. It is my hope that this relationship will continue to flourish and I look forward to working with the station in the future.

Sincerely,

Kate Langstone

Dear Mr. Martin:

Children's Hospital Boston recently celebrated the fifth annual Mix 98.5 Cares for Kids Radiothon benefiting Children's Hospital Boston. For over five years, we at Children's have been honored to partner with Mix 98.5 to raise awareness and support for our patient care and research. Each year, Mix on-air personalities broadcast live from the Hospital for two days, interviewing patients and their families, calling on listeners to phone in and pledge their support, and promoting our mission throughout their listening area. Due entirely to the tireless efforts of Mix staff, the Radiothon has raised more than $2.5 million to fund the areas of greatest need at Children's.

Our patients and their families enjoy visiting the live broadcast and meeting Mix personalities – as well as the great celebrity guests they invite to be a part of this wonderful event. The money raised has an immediate impact on the lives our patients and their families, who come to us from all over the world in need of the ground-breaking research and first-class care we provide. At Children's, no child is turned away – and friends like Mix help to make that possible.

Mix's support is not only confined to the days of the Radiothon. In the month prior to the broadcast, Mix reaches out to listeners to encourage them to become Change Bandits. This gives listeners a great opportunity to get involved with the Hospital, and gives us an opportunity to put our name and our mission out in the community. Throughout the year, Mix also works with us to facilitate special programs with artists and to schedule celebrity visits that give our patients the opportunity to meet some of their heroes – and bring a smile to the faces that need it most.

The dedication of Mix 98.5 has enabled Children's Hospital Boston to continue giving world-class care to every patient who comes through our doors – regardless of their family's ability to pay. We value their dedication and look forward to many years of continued partnership.

Sincerely,

Dear Chairman Martin,

On behalf of the Massachusetts Adoption Resource Exchange, I am writing to recognize the support we have received from WBMX-FM since early 2000. At least once a year, then Host of New England Lifestyle Gary Trust had a MARE staff member on the program. Mike Mullaney has continued the tradition and has regularly scheduled us on the program. Media support is an important aspect of raising awareness of the need for adoptive families for children in foster care, and Mix has been a valuable partner in our mission. We look forward to continuing and building on this relationship in the future.

Sincerely,

ROCK+FOR+HEALTH

Dear Chairman Martin,

On behalf of ROCK FOR HEALTH, I am writing to recognize the support we have received this year from WBMX-FM. As a non-profit organization, we are dedicated to creating a healthy musical environment in which musicians can perform at their peak physical and mental abilities. Understanding that 96% of musicians lack health care, WMBX has shown great support and provided us with valuable promotion.

MIX began working with ROCK FOR HEALTH in April of 2008 when Mike Mullaney interviewed me on his New England Lifestyle show, to create increased awareness of the lack of health care in the music community. This in-depth interview not only brought attention to the fact that our work is devoted to keeping our bands healthy, but also reached countless amounts of people who have emailed me with kinds words about the organization. I continue to keep in touch with WMBX and keep them updated on my company's progress, as they are easily accessible and encouraging to me.

We view WMBX as a valuable media partner, who is willing to step up to the plate not only for our organization, but for all of the music community. We look forward to continuing this relationship in the future.

Sincerely,
