

6. Literacy: Literacy is a priority among CBS Phoenix's stations and throughout the year the problem of illiteracy in the valley is addressed through promotions like KOOL's "Pack to School" and the KMLE Country's "Reading Recommendation."
7. Children's Issues: KMLE's Morning Show Host Dave Pratt has a charity that raises money to under privileged children to receive dental care. KMLE also does one of the nation's largest Radiothon for the Phoenix Children's Hospital each September. In September of 2006 more than 1.5 million dollars was raised over the course of two days.
8. Domestic Violence: Charities like Fresh Start Women's Foundation has been featured on Sunday Sunrise discussing Domestic Violence issues in the valley.
9. Education: The continuing education of Phoenix's children is a priority to all of the CBS properties in Phoenix with programs like "Bo KOOL Stay in School" which provides four 4-thousand dollar scholarships each school year to middle school students.
10. Hunger: In the summer of 2005 and 2006 KOOL-FM did a Radiothon to raise money for a local homeless shelter "The Phoenix Rescue Mission." In November KOOL and KMLE both do food drive on air and at client locations. But above the normal routing of a food drive during the holidays, KMLE has partnered with KPNX-TV the local NBC affiliate to a Turkey Drive challenge which drew publicity both on the radio and on TV and collected thousands of turkeys for the less privileged. In 2005 and 2006 KOOL-FM has partnered with a local home builder to collect names of families whom may not be able to afford a complete holiday meal. 30 families each holiday season received, hand delivered (by the KOOL staff) hot ready to eat meals on Thanksgiving Day.

PITTSBURGH

WDSY-FM

Each year, station personnel attend Pittsburgh's local "Ascertainment Meetings" coordinated by the Pittsburgh Radio Organization that allows local organizations to discuss their needs and desires to better the community, Station's News Director and/or Public Affairs Director then interview experts in the community to further to address the needs of Pittsburgh. Each month, station air personalities conduct additional interviews discussing a wide array of community related topics.

CBS Radio/Public Affairs Directors host the Sunday Magazine, an hour-long public affairs program. It features 3 different guests and subjects for 20 minutes each. Guests are selected for their knowledge of, association with, and/or involvement in timely issues and concerns surrounding the Pittsburgh area.

Soldier Salute: Weekly, WDSY's morning show announces a soldier for our local area fighting over seas. They contact a family member and talk to them on the air to describe their brave loved one. The morning show sends the soldier a copy of the announcement on the air with a Y108 Patriotic t-shirt.

Youth Athlete of the Week: Every Thursday, Stoney, WDSY's afternoon air talent, picks a Youth Athlete of the week. He'll read the listeners submission on the air and the youth receives a $50.00 gift certificate to Dicks Sporting Goods.

Pet of the Week: Every Wednesday morning WDSY invites the Animal Friends to visit. They describe the dog of the week and tell listeners how they can adopt the dog along with other dogs.

PORTLAND

KCMD

KCMD is a news/talk station targeting listeners (primarily those aged 25-54) who live in the Portland metro area. Four hours per weekday are given over to strictly local programming, including an hour-long local news segment. Additionally, recurring local news breaks continue through afternoon drive.

All programming decisions are made in, and for the Portland market; the Program Director resides in SE Portland, and has strong community ties.

KINK

For 39 years and counting, KINK is proud of its unique radio format and heritage. It is truly a local and home grown format unlike any other radio stations elsewhere. Station often receives emails from listeners who have moved away from Portland lamenting how much they miss KINK. They can now listen to the station via live internet streaming.

All of the programming decisions at KINK are made by local station management. KINK's goal is to provide quality services for Portland listeners in all of its programs, from song selection to special music features, reporting of news and information to commenting on important issues.

KINK is live and local around the clock.

KINK also provides alternate, locally-programmed streams on its website with music channels devoted to all acoustic, all blues, all "Lights Out," all new music, and all holiday music.

KLTH

KLTH programming decisions are made locally in Portland by the station's program director. KLTH bases its programming decisions on local listener research that targets people who live here in the Portland area. Listeners are invited to focus groups to discuss their radio listening preferences.

KUFO-FM

KUFO is Portland's leading Rock station. Station's programming decisions are made locally in Portland by the station's program director. KUFO bases its programming decisions by regularly conducting local listener research that targets Rock listeners who live in the Portland area.

Station programming staff are responsible for all the music and non-music content on KUFO. With the exception of the morning show, all station DJ's are radio announcers who live in the Portland area. Station personalities interact with listeners and the local communities on a regular basis.

Two station employees with years of Portland radio experience handle the station's news and public affairs information.

KUPL-FM

KUPL is Portland's leading Country music station. KUPL takes pride in its involvement being local to reflect the music tastes of the greater Portland/Vancouver area. Station uses listener research to ensure its programming is meeting listener expectation. Being local is a hallmark of the station.

All of the KUPL-FM radio shows are done live and local. We have a live/local personality on the air 24/7. Frequently, KUPL DJ's make public appearances at local communities to interact with listeners and hold direct dialogues with the general public. This process is a great way for the station to stay tuned to meeting local needs.

Besides playing Country music, KUPL conducts numerous activities to get involved with listeners. Station also airs lifestyle features that are of interest to its listeners, such as gardening tips and fishing reports.

Station programming staff are responsible for all the music and non-music content on KLTH. All DJ voices on KLTH are done by air staff who live in the Portland area. Two station employees with years of Portland radio experience handle the station's news and public affairs information.

KVMX

KVMX became a rhythmic AC on October 5, 2006 and programs popular music from the 70's, 80's, 90's and today. The station's programming decisions are made locally in Portland by the station's program director. KVMX bases its programming decisions on local listener research that targets 25-44 year old listeners who live here in the Portland area.

PORTLAND CLUSTER

CBS Portland does not employ a cluster program director to oversee programming for all six radio stations. We believe it is important for each CBS station to have its own programming team to make programming decisions independent of other radio stations.

By having focus to programming for each of our stations, we can provide better radio services for Portland area listeners.

SACRAMENTO

KQJK

KQJK broadcasts two half hour public affairs programs weekly covering the twenty categories listed in the FCC directive and applied to local issues. KQJK also broadcasts prerecorded public service announcements.

KYMX

KYMX airs two, 30-minute, locally produced public affairs shows weekly that covers specific issues and events affecting Sacramento listeners.

Sacramento People is produced biweekly by the KYMX Public Affairs Director. These are two half-hour interviews that run from 6:00am-7:00am Sunday mornings and directly reflect timely issues that face the people of the greater Sacramento area. Examples of recent programming include local crime, health issues, local job fairs and recruiting events, West Nile Virus prevention, childhood immunization requirements for students and the California State Fair.

ST. LOUIS

KEZK-FM and KYKY

The stations are equipped to provide emergency information around the clock in the event of a catastrophe. In the wake of 9/11 and the Iraq War, both KEZK and KYKY employed the resources of CNN and local news staffs to ensure timely, frequent delivery of capsule information to St. Louis listeners. Unlike many other stations in St. Louis, both stations always have a live person on duty to broadcast live 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, allowing them to give important local weather, traffic, and news information whenever it is necessary.

Being primarily music stations, all of the stations' music decisions are driven by researching the tastes of local St. Louis listeners. The stations' news is entirely locally produced, written and delivered. Over 60 newscasts a week are prepared and presented by the stations' local news staffs. The stations have a strong commitment to weather and traffic information with a four-person weather and traffic team available 24/7. The stations' weekly public affairs programming is generated locally by ascertaining the needs and interests of community leaders. Two hours of public affairs programming is produced each week for airing on KEZK and KYKY. All of the stations' public affairs programming is produced locally.

KMOX

KMOX is in almost constant contact with the local community leaders through the reporters and News Director in our news department and producers for our talk programs. Community leaders come to KMOX when they have a message they need to get out to the community.

KMOX airs local programming 21 hours a day, Monday – Friday and 24-hours a day Saturday and Sunday. The only syndicated program KMOX airs, the Rush Limbaugh Show, is pre-empted as needed to carry press conferences as they are called.

KMOX Book Club

The KMOX Book Club is an inspirational and entertaining event featuring local and nationally-recognized authors appearing live before an average audience of 200-500 people. The station strives to include authors and topics that represent a spectrum of viewpoints and interests. In partnership with Fontbonne University, the station hopes to highlight books that have a national interest and implication as well as those with a local flair. For the past three year, attendees have been able to hear a synopsis of the book and are able to ask questions and get autographs from the author and KMOX' Charlie Brennan. It is the only book club in America where attendees are able to meet the author. The event is free and open to the public. The 2007 featured authors include Andrew C. Taylor and Kirk Kazanjian, co-authors of "What Enterprise, America's #1 Car Rental Company, Can Teach You About Creating Lifetime Customers;" Terry McAuliffe, author of "What a Party! Voice Of Caring

KMOX uses its airwaves to give a “voice” to charitable organizations that are making a difference in the community. Each month, KMOX chooses an organization to be its “Voice of Caring” Partner for that month. Not only does KMOX devote 45 of its monthly public service announcements to the organization, KMOX airs three interviews — one in Total Information AM, one in Total Information PM, and one on a weekend morning show for the organization to get its message to the public. Some of the organizations for this year are: Living Well Foundation / Village – Camp Jump Start; St. Baldrick’s Foundation; Circle of Concern; Judevine Center for Autism; Ride On St. Louis; Employment Connection; Urban League; Youth in Need; Legal Advocates for Abused Women; and Citizens for Missouri’s Children.

SAN FRANCISCO

KCBS

KCBS is proud of its extensive local news programming, with a full-time newsroom providing local news coverage 24 hours a day, seven days a week. The station’s goal is that its news coverage reflects the interests and concerns of the community.

KCBS is a fair and balanced independent news operation. Its coverage is not influenced by corporate or advertiser concerns.

In addition to its daily news reports, KCBS seeks to provide in depth coverage of important local issues through regularly scheduled long-form programs and special broadcasts. For example:

- KCBS In Depth, a weekly half hour commercial-free interview program on a major local issue. KCBS In Depth airs Sundays at 8:30 am and pm.
- Commercial free live coverage of mayoral, gubernatorial, house and senate campaign debates.
- Campaign 2008 special reports on the candidates, issues and propositions before the voters in the November 2008 election. Special coverage of the presidential candidates began in early 2007.

KFRC-FM (formerly KIFR-FM)

KFRC (FORMERLY KIFR)’s on-air talent discuss local and national issues while providing an avenue for the listeners to call in to voice opinions. Local issues have included mayoral decisions as well as a variety of other political happenings in the Bay Area (garbage strikes, hotel labor disputes, education), the latest in local sports, and housing costs. Topics that make it to air are decided upon by the local talent and producers. The on-air talent also keep listeners updated on local events of interest.

KFRC (FORMERLY KIFR) provides traffic updates and information on future events in the Bay Area that may cause traffic back up.

KITS

After the Howard Stern show ended its 7 1/2 year run on LIVE 105 in December 2005, LIVE 105 decided to replace Howard with a non-syndicated morning show. Woody, Tony & Ravey, aka The Woody Show, began their daily weekday show January 2006. The Woody Show focuses on local issues and events that people in the SF Bay Area can relate with and the show is heavy with listener participation. The Woody Show also occasionally broadcasts live from different locations in the Bay Area.

On the Woody Show, news/traffic reporter/show producer Greg Gory reports local weather and traffic throughout the 6-10am daypart. There are a total of 9 reports during the morning. Greg also does local news and stories that are talked about include local topics pulled from papers such as the San Francisco Chronicle, the San Francisco Examiner, Contra Costa Times or San Jose Mercury News.

Show host Ravey does sports reports, which air twice during the shift and focuses on local teams: the Giants and A's during baseball season, the 49ers and Raiders during football season, and the Sharks during hockey season. Other events that hit the Bay Area are also mentioned, such as Toyota Save-Mart 350 at Infineon Raceway, Laguna Seca in Monterey and golf tournaments at Pebble Beach.

Local regular guests include San Francisco comedy duo "Siskel and Negro" who provide a different twist on movie reviews, local TV personality Jan Wahl ("the hat lady") also reviews films every week, local video game expert Steve Masters does a weekly feature called Gott Game and answers video game questions from callers.

San Francisco Mayor Gavin Newsom has made three appearances on the Woody Show and will continue to do so approximately every other month. He discusses the current issues of the city and takes calls from listeners about local concerns.

LIVE 105 has only one syndicated program on the air (Loveline from Westwood One). All other programs are created and produced in-house with only San Francisco listeners in mind. Examples of these programs include the "Nineties @ Noon," which runs Monday through Friday. This is a flashback show that highlights the music that LIVE 105 made popular in the 90's.

LIVE 105 also provides two weekend programs that are locally produced: "Resurrection Sunday," hosted by LIVE 105's own Kat features the music that LIVE 105 played in the 80's and 90's. "Soundcheck" is LIVE 105's weekly three hour new music program that features the best new local artists and live in-studio performances from local bands on a weekly basis.

KLLC

All programming decisions as they relate to content, including music, are based on the tastes and needs of the local community. For example the weekly music playlist decisions are based on local surveys – both online and on the phone - song requests and local record sales.

KLLC conducts weekly telephone music surveys in bay area along with twice yearly auditorium music research studies This costly market research is designed to ascertain the likes and dislikes of the local audience.

Once per year KLLC conducts a major market research study to determine the programming tastes of the local community. This study carefully examines all content issues including music, talk, news, traffic and events.

Morning show talk topics are designed to appeal to the local community and phone calls are broadcast throughout the day from local residents. A full time producer is dedicated exclusively to the morning show to help ensure that local content is broadcast each day. For example San Francisco Mayor Gavin Newsom has been interviewed several times on KLLC addressing local concerns.

KLLC has a program director and music director dedicated exclusively to the programming content on KLLC.

KLLC offers Public Affairs Programming dedicated to serving the needs of the San Francisco Bay Area. KLLC broadcasts public service announcements 10 times each day Monday through Sunday. The announcements are selected using the community issues identified through the ascertainment process.

Each Sunday from 6:00am-7:00am KLLC broadcasts a public affairs program dedicated exclusively to local community issues. The program is recorded and produced by KLLC.

KLLC airs a weekly one hour public affairs show consisting of three 20-minute segments. The topics reflect issues that are of interest or concern to the Bay Area community as ascertained throughout the year by Public Affairs Director Liz Saint John. Many local non-profit organizations are invited to participate on the show.

KYCY

All programming decisions, as they relate to content, editorial and talk programs on KYCY, 1550-AM are based on the tastes and needs of the local business community. Programming for the stream www.kyouradio.com is user generated and consists of a number of programs produced exclusively in the SF Bay Area.

KYCY also carries local sports programming. In 2006 the station was the flag-ship station for the Western Division American league champion Oakland A's. In 2007 the station shared this privilege with sister station KFRC. Along with professional base ball KYCY is the broadcast home for Cal Bears college basket ball. The relationship has been in place since 2005. As result of the relationship with both franchises KYCY runs locally produced sports-talk programming to support each team.

KYCY has a station manager and operations manager dedicated exclusively to the programming content on both the AM signal (1550) and the stream www.kyouradio.com.

KYCY offers Public Affairs Programming dedicated to serving the needs of the San Francisco Bay Area. KYCY broadcasts public service announcements 6 times each day Monday through Sunday. The announcements are selected using the community issues identified through the ascertainment process.

Each Sunday from 7:00am-8:00am KYCY broadcasts (on the AM and the stream) a public affairs program dedicated exclusively to local community issues. The program is recorded and produced by KYCY.

WASHINGTON, DC

WPGC (AM/FM)Error! Bookmark not defined.

Each Saturday and Sunday WPGC(AM/FM) runs a community focus program to keep the station's listeners informed about what services are offered to them in the community. Special guests have included Congress Members Albert Wynn, MD and Eleanor Holmes Norton, DC, Mayor Adrian Fenty, County Executive Jack Johnson of Prince George's, council members, the lieutenant governor and other community activist and political figures.

In partnership with Greater Washington Urban League the stations also air their public affairs show entitled "On Track" with President/CEO Maudine Cooper serving as the host.

WPGC-FM

WPGC is one of the few music stations in DC that has a real news department. The station's news director, Guy Lambert, is on call 24 hours a day for breaking stories. He has full authority to go on air and interrupt regular programming with a news bulletin at any time and does this often. Recently Guy Covered the tragedy at Virginia Tech University where several people were slain on the school's campus. Also, he reported on the execution of Saddam Hussein in Iraq...

WPGC airs a semi-regular show called, "YO Listen Up". It is a 60-minute show that is aimed at teens covering subjects such as teen pregnancy, violence in the schools and AIDS & teens. It is hosted by the station's night show hosts, the Hometeam, and includes guests who take calls from listeners on the various topics it covers.

On Friday nights, the station's night show, the Hometeam has a show called, "Friday Night Mic Fight" where local rap artists come on the show and do a freestyle rap of their music. The weekly winner stays on to take on a challenger the next week. It is another way to expose local talent and give them publicity.

WLZL

El Zol 99.1 has redefined station community involvement and localism through the multiple initiatives listed here:

- Tu Familia Zol-A community Sunday morning show hosted by morning jock, Pedro Biaggi, in which we explore in depth topics of interest to our listeners such as immigration, education and health.  Sunday mornings/9am

Recent guests: Francisco Rodriguez (Consul General de Peru), Maria Olivas and Dennise Castro (Community Organization AYUDA), Juan Flores and Jose Peña (Centro Latino, Museums), Diana Barrela (Social Security).

- Así es mi Tierra-A show dedicated to the biggest Latin community in the DC Metro, Salvadorans. The music and topics are designed to enhance and preserve their heritage and culture.  Sundays 10a-12pm

WEST PALM BEACH

WEAT in a combined effort with sister station, WIRK, produces a weekly public affairs program that airs Sunday mornings from 6-7 a.m. This program is utilized as a weekly opportunity to spotlight local issues and local organizations. WEAT is the host of the annual Susan G. Komcn "Race for the Cure”, American Heart Assoc. Walk and dozens of other important events designed to help those in need in our community.

WIRK-FM

WIRK airs a weekly hour-long local affairs program called Sunday Morning Magazine, hosted by WIRK’s News Director Bill Adams. Bill surveys local organizations and develops great programming based on the needs of the local community. WIRK’s newly designed website is hosting several community events that we feature.

CBS OWNED RADIO STATIONS – LOCAL NEWS AND EMERGENCY INFORMATION

LOCAL NEWS AND EMERGENCY INFORMATION:

CBS Radio Stations Assure Coverage of Local and National News and Emergency Information

ATLANTA

WAOK

WAOK has a fully staffed news department consisting of a news director and three anchor/reporters. WAOK airs live local newscasts every 30 minutes Monday through Friday from 6 am until 6 pm except each weekday at 11:30 when we air a national newscast from American Urban Radio Network. There are a total of 120 newscasts per week. Over 50 percent of daily programming is devoted to local news. There are also four talk shows that on any given day will concentrate on local news issues. WAOK has added newscasts throughout the day for breaking events and has preempted regular programming for special news coverage of events. On weekends the daily shows are rebroadcast in a "Best Of" format minus local news and traffic however, CNN Headline news is also broadcast during the overnight hours of midnight to 6 am daily and on the weekend from 6 pm until 7:30 am Friday Night to Saturday Morning and 6 pm until 7 am Saturday night to Sunday morning. WAOK's website lists local headlines and news stories from Atlanta in addition to other station promotional information.

WAOK's Public Affairs Director has talk show guests fill out a Station Ascertainment Form, which documents contact information, how the station can assist the guest or their organization with their needs and what they consider the top concerns for citizens they serve in the greater Atlanta area. The ascertainments are used to determine guests and topics for public affairs programming and public service announcements. The station also uses an open door policy and accepts program suggestions from show hosts and producers in response to local, national and regional news and events that interest the listeners, sponsors and supporters. The station reads emails submitted by listeners and community leaders on an ongoing basis. The radio station also reads local and nationally published newspapers, magazines, and internet news reports to keep abreast of issues that may affect the listener. The station also receives press releases from local government offices, local businesses and educational, private and fraternal sources which are used for programming purposes.

WAOK strives to bring relevant public affairs programming to the Metro Atlanta African American listener. Topics on the shows range from domestic violence, healthcare, crime, predatory lending, to local and national politics. Guests have included community leaders such as Mayor Shirley Franklin, Dr. Joseph Lowery, local city council members, and directors of county government departments.

WAOK also provides regular public affairs news features as part of the daily news coverage. These reports are 45 to 60 seconds long and are produced by the stations news reporters/anchors. Stories feature local and national newsmakers discussing issues of concern to Atlanta residents.

WAOK partners with local community organizations and allows the leadership to record their own public service announcements. Each announcement runs at least 4 times per day for an average of 2 weeks. WAOK also runs nationally produced public service announcements but the focus is to support a local issue. Example: WAOK aired a series of locally-produced :60 public service announcements which addressed AIDS, prostate cancer and screening, voter education, domestic violence, affordable housing, discrimination in the workplace, disaster relief and cancer prevention. WAOK also partners with the Georgia Department of Labor to air a regular public service feature listing job openings available around the Atlanta metro area. This feature is locally produced and during year aired over 450 times.

WAOK participates in local EAS tests on a weekly basis. The WAOK news department and the Metro Traffic Department have covered live local fires, bomb threats and other traffic emergencies that may affect the listeners.

WAOK broadcast several relief efforts for Hurricane Katrina victims, including broadcasting live in conjunction with Rainbow Push and many local churches. On August 29, 2007, WAOK did a one year retrospect on the one year aftermath of Katrina.

On January 16, 2006, both WAOK and WVEE stopped their programming and simulcast WAGA-TV's coverage of the ceremonies from the King Center in Atlanta, GA commemorating the life, works, and death of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

WAOK's locally produced news and public affairs shows include:

- Atlanta's Best News-5:30 a.m. to 8:00 a.m. Monday-Friday. News, Live Interviews, Traffic, Weather Show hosts Jean Ross and Rick Blalock.
- Local News- every 30 minutes top and bottom of each hour -Monday through Friday 8:30 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.

Host/ Producer Renee Washington - A Locally produced show focusing on news, community issues and events. Other public service programming (local) features run recently were:

WZGC partnered with the Atlanta Community Food Bank for "The Supper Club", the organization's monthly dining event. Once a month, patrons are asked to dine at specific restaurants. Twenty percent of their total food bill would then be donated to the ACFB. The events benefit "Atlanta's Table", which is the "Prepared Food" project of the Atlanta Community Food Bank. The event was held January 10, 2006, at Rathbun's Restaurant, and The Krog Bar, 112 Krog Street, in Atlanta. WZGC ran pre-recorded and live public service announcements as well as posting information about the event on the 929dave.fm website

WZGC'S Holly Firfer ran live public service announcements for HopeLine, an organization that helps Georgia's Victims of Domestic Violence. The Atlanta Falcons and Verizon Wireless volunteers manned HopeLine drop boxes at all entrance gates prior to the game. Attendees were encouraged to recycle used wireless phones. The phones would then be refurbished and sold. HopeLine awards grants and prepaid airtime to non-profit advocacy agencies and law enforcement agencies to aid survivors of domestic violence

WZGC'S Public Service Director, Renee Washington, interviewed Anthony McWilliams, from ARCA, The AIDS Research Consortium of Atlanta, regarding the organization's clinical drug studies in battling the disease. ARCA is a non-profit clinical, prevention and epidemiologic research center founded to meet the needs of persons living with HIV in the Atlanta area. ARCA represents a consortium of over 50 physicians in private practice and five public health clinics that care for persons with HIV.

WZGC'S Mara Davis hosted the "Dining for Dogs" fundraiser at Hotel Indigo. Monies raised supported the Southeastern Greyhound Adoption organization. The group helps find homes for Greyhounds after the animals are no longer used for racing. WZGC also aired pre-recorded public service announcements advertising the event. WZGC'S Renee Washington also interviewed event organizers.

WZGC'S News Director, Holly Firfer, interviewed representatives from the Hands on Atlanta organization, about their charity efforts for the Martin Luther King Jr. holiday. Hands on Atlanta educates and inspires people to become more active in volunteerism and provides forums for groups and individuals to forge partnerships to help solve issues in the community.

WZGC posted information about the VOX Talks Benefit Luncheon on the 929dave.fm website. VOX Teen Communications is a non-profit youth development organization which organizes Atlanta's only newspaper by and for teens. VOX Talks brings together VOX Teen Communications' mission of giving teens the opportunity to express themselves on issues of importance to them.

WZGC'S Holly Firfer hosted "Fashionada 2006", an event that raised money for melanoma cancer research. WZGC aired live and pre-recorded public service announcements regarding the event as well as posting information on the 929 dave.fm website.

WZGC posted information on the 929dave.fm website and ran a series of public service announcements for "ARF 2006", an event held to support the organization's Animal Rescue Fair and Pet Adoptions. The event was held at Wills Park in Alpharetta, Georgia. WZGC'S Mara Davis hosted the event.

WZGC'S Public Affairs Director, Renee Washington, interviewed Dr. Janice A. Galleshaw, MD, regarding the "STAR Breast Cancer Prevention Trial". The trial was held over several years and included those women who were at the highest risk and involved 3 drugs that were found to help prevent cancer in post-menopausal women. Dr. Galleshaw also discussed prevention as well as the relationship a patient should have with her medical team.

BALTIMORE

WHFS-FM

WHFS-FM, Baltimore's FM Talk Station provides local news updates once an hour from 6am until 3pm Monday through Friday. WHFS also can, and will break in, should a local event occur where coverage is warranted.

WJFK(AM)

Because WJFK(AM) is a 24 sports station, it does not carry traditional local news reports on a regular/daily basis. Instead, the stations focus is on local sports updates twice per hour from 6am until 7pm Monday through Friday. However, if a situation occurs where local news is needed, WJFK(AM) has the infrastructure to facility coverage. Sister stations from within the cluster are setup to provide local news coverage at a moments notice. WJFK(AM) also provides local traffic reports Monday through Friday in morning drive and afternoon drive.

WLIF

WLIF does local news updates on the half hour every weekday from 5M-9AM. The news is typically 30% National and 70% local news coverage. If local news warrants, WLIF will break into regular music programming to inform listener's of what is happening in their community.

Weather is an important and changing force in Baltimore. As a result, WLIF employs a local meteorologist for the purpose of providing the best possible information to the community. These reports are generally aired on an hourly basis, twenty-four hours per day.

WQSR

WQSR is a very music intensive station and does not employ live disc jockeys. However, the station maintains its commitment to keeping its listeners informed in the case of local news or weather emergencies. WQSR is setup to carry live feeds from any one of its sister stations in the cluster and can do so with a moments notice. WQSR also has links to our CBS O&O television partner, WJZ-TV.

WWMX

WWMX does local news at the top of every hour in morning drive; 5am-9am, Monday through Friday. If local news warrants wall to wall coverage, WWMX is setup to provide needed information. WWMX is affiliated with Metro Source and has a strong relationship with WJZ-TV, the CBS O&O. WWMX also provides pertinent weather information all day long.

BOSTON

WBCN

WBCN participates in the "Amber Alert" system and will interrupt regular broadcasting at any time the system is activated to find lost or kidnapped children.

WBMX

WBMX has a very important role in the Massachusetts Emergency Alert System (EAS) State Plan. WBMX serves as the State Primary Relay. The state emergency agencies use WBMX's signal as the primary input source to relay messages to all the radio stations across the state.

WBMX also provides traffic reports 9 times a day during commuting hours, and provides the latest news at 5:30am and 6:00am.

WBZ

WBZ programs fifteen continuous hours of an all-news format each day. During the other nine hours WBZ programs issue oriented talk programs with listener call-ins. WBZ had gradually added more news to its program line up including expanding to the all-news format on weekends.

In addition to the call-in segments on WBZ's talk programs the station also programs 10 commentary segments each week.

“America’s Missing: Broadcast Emergency Response” (AMBER) is a voluntary partnership between law-enforcement agencies and broadcasters to send out an emergency alert to the public when the life of an abducted child is endangered. WBZ Radio’s Chief Engineer, Mark Manuelian, has been the driving force behind getting this vital service implemented here in Massachusetts and has volunteered his personal and professional time and technical equipment to facilitate this program. WBZ is the lead radio station in the Amber Alert chain and forwards the Amber Alert messages along to every other radio station in Massachusetts as well as other non radio entities.

WBZ NewsRadio is New England’s premier source for storm cancellations. Most of New England’s students, parents, and businesses rely on the WBZ StormCenter for the very latest storm-related weather and traffic information as well as cancellations. WBZ can document involvement in this program as far back as 1946. WBZ NewsRadio also provides its cancellations to out sister station WBZ-TV.

WBZ maintains an Internet web site that concentrates on news and information for its audience. The web site is also used to provide school-closing information on snowy days, and also provides free links to public service groups seeking publicity.

WBZ radio provides one-minute traffic reports every ten minutes to aid listeners with their commutes and everyday travel.

WBZ Radio provides weather forecasts six times per hour during the all-news format each day.

WBZ has assisted the Massachusetts State Police in coordinating three successful Amber Alerts. At the direction of state police, WBZ issued the initial alerts that triggered broadcast messages on other radio stations, television stations and electronic billboards. Each time there was an alert, WBZ aired the message twice an hour until the operation concluded. The abducted children were safely returned to their parents. WBZ’s chief engineer participates in a number of planning meetings with state police. In addition, WBZ ran stories educating the public on how the Amber Alert works.

WBZ provides extensive hurricane coverage during hurricane season because of the many people in the listening area with family and friends in Florida and other regions routinely affected by hurricane damage.

WODS

WODS carries two newscasts per hour every morning between 5:30 and 9:00 hosted by our News and Public Affairs Director. Plus, we offer updates throughout the day on pertinent issues concerning Boston and its surrounding communities. In addition, we run an hour-long public affairs program called “Boston Outlook” every Sunday morning from 6 to 7am. This show covers local and regional issues including health, children, seniors, religion and politics. Recent guests have included representatives from the Brain Injury Association of Massachusetts, Project Joy (providing local childcare workers with training on childhood trauma), Massachusetts Chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Association, Massachusetts Adoption Resource Exchange (adoption service for minorities and challenged individuals) and the Brain Injury Association of Massachusetts. In addition, WODS runs Public Service Announcements throughout the week both on the air and on our website.

In the event of emergencies or special alerts, the station continues live updates throughout the day. All news reports are done by the station's own on-air personalities, who have a direct relationship with the station's listeners and are available for their feedback.

The station is a proud member of the new "Amber Alert" system and will break in at any time the system is activated to find missing or kidnapped children.

WZLX

WZLX participates in the annual American Red Cross Blood Drive in January. WZLX's Morning Show hosts live from the event and encourages listeners to come and donate blood. A station vehicle is present during the broadcast as well as giving away prizes to everyone that donates blood.

WZLX also participates in the Hyannisport Challenge to benefit Best Buddies. This event is hosted each year by Anthony Shriver and consists of an 85-mile scenic bike ride from the JFK library in Boston to the Kennedy Compound in Hyannis. Each rider is paired with a mentally challenged individual from Best Buddies for the ride. WZLX supports the event each year by airing PSA's on the station and making van appearances at several water stops along the way giving away prizes.

WZLX's Afternoon DJ Chuck Nowlin participates yearly in The Great Mass Getaway. The event involves Chuck riding his bike from Boston to Providence in an effort to raise money for The Central New England Chapter of The National Multiple Sclerosis Society.

WZLX's Afternoon DJ Chuck Nowlin also participates in the Cystic Fibrosis's Cycle for Haylee's annual charity bike event.

WZLX hosts their annual Classic Rock Classic Golf Tournament to benefit Shriner's Hospital for Children in Boston.

WZLX's morning show hosts the Karlson & McKenzie's Drive for Charity where listeners come hit golf balls at a driving range to raise money for Shriner's Hospital.

Karlson & McKenzie host and WZLX promotes the annual Doug Flutie Bowl-A-Thon and the annual Doug Flutie Golf Tournament both to benefit the Doug Flutie Jr. Foundation for Autism.

WZLX promotes and afternoon DJ Chuck Nowlin participates in the annual Jolly Jaunt 5k run to benefit the Special Olympics of Massachusetts

Karlson & McKenzie present the annual Veteran's Day Broadcast to support our troops in the Middle East. WZLX collects supplies for "care packs" to be shipped overseas.

CHARLOTTE

WBAV-FM

WBAV-FM provides live local and national news coverage, beginning at 5:20am on the Front Page with Beatrice Thompson. During the 40 minute program, a live interview segment provides time for up-to-the-minute coverage of news and emergency information. For example, during school related weather events, the interview segment has been used to talk live with school officials and update school closings.

Throughout the day, WBAV-FM provides news updates every half-hour beginning at 6:00 a.m. through 10:00 a.m. In the event of breaking news, the station breaks in to regular programming to get the information to its listeners.

WPEG

The No Limit Larry Morning show covers all local, state and national news stories.

WPEG is a member of the Amber Alert System. When children are missing WPEG immediately issues an alert with a description of the child, the abductor and the vehicle. WPEG recently participated in an activation of the system, which helped save the life of a four-month-old Charlotte baby in September of 2003.

If there is an emergency such as a hurricane, tornado, snow or ice storm, WPEG-FM breaks into programming to alert Charlotte residents about where to go for help. Also, many schools and businesses call the station with its "Weather Code". This allows the station to announce closings, delays etc.

WSOC-FM

WSOC-FM is a member of the Amber Alert System. When a child is missing WSOC-FM immediately issues an alert with a description of the child, the abductor and the vehicle. WSOC-FM recently participated in an activation of the system, which helped save the life of a four-month-old Charlotte baby in September of 2003.

WSOC-FM has a fulltime local newsperson on staff to cover events of a local nature.

WSOC-FM Error! Bookmark not defined. provides a local phone number where businesses and schools can call to announce closings. This allows WSOC-FM to provide up to date closing announcements to its local listening audience.

WSOC-FM runs local traffic reports daily to keep listeners up to date on road closings and accidents.

CHICAGO

WBBM

WBBM (AM) is a 24-hour-a-day all-news station, all locally produced and originated (with the exception of the top of the hour CBS newscasts.) WBBM (AM) is the first choice of Chicagoans for emergency coverage providing wall-to-wall, often commercial free coverage of breaking news, most recently coverage of one of the damaging storms in many years, knocking out power to more than 600,000 area customers. WBBM (AM) has nine (9) full time local reporters.

WBBM (AM) offers a "News-Tip Hotline" that is answered 24 hours a day and regularly contributes to the station's news effort. WBBM (AM) actively solicits "news tips" from listeners. We also have a separate "Traffic Tipline" which is also staffed 24-hours per day, as advice listeners of areas where driving conditions are bad.

WBBM (AM) is a subscriber to the Emergency Closing Center, airing school closings during inclement weather.

WBBM (AM) broadcasts all Amber alerts and is a primary EAS station.

WSCR

WSCR's Sports Desk is staffed 24-hours a day and WSCR takes phone calls from listeners on-air, 19 hours a day. WSCR is also an EAS monitoring station, and serves as an emergency back-up broadcast facility for all-news station WBBM(AM).

WUSN

WUSN does full news, traffic and weather reports and has a local meteorologist hired in case of weather emergencies.

CLEVELAND

WKRK-FM (formerly WKRI) and WNCX

Both stations are members of the Amber Alert System. Whenever a child is reported missing, the stations immediately issue an alert with a description of the child, the abductor, and the vehicle. Program Directors attend meetings with Amber Alert officials on how to better use the system and provide input on making the system more effective.

Listeners may reach jocks directly through studio lines and e-mail on both stations. Station websites also allow listeners to send messages directly to the studio with the "Instant Access" feature. WKRI also has text messaging features that allow listeners to send text messages via their cell phones to on-air jocks.

Local traffic reports are featured on WNCX and WKRK-FM.

WNCX provides local news during morning drive hours. The two minute reports run at the top of the 6, 7, 8, & 9am hours. Local sports reports occur in the same hours.

WDOK

WDOK generates its news locally under the direction of News Director Jim McIntyre. News on WDOK is concentrated between the hours of 5:00am and 9:00am with 2 fully produced newscasts per hour. In addition, WDOK also commits a portion of its news to public service, and most newscasts include localized information on issues that affect the community.

WDOK is partnered with the local ABC television affiliate for ongoing weather and news updates. Weather and temperatures are given more than twice an hour during prime listening and updated for all National Weather Service watches and warnings. Local traffic and emergencies are handled through our partnership with Metro Traffic and Westwood One. Traffic is updated six times an hour between the hours of 6:00am and 9:00am and three times an hour between 3:00pm and 7:00pm. If an emergency presents itself outside of the prime rush hour(s), WDOK will break regular programming to update the audience.

WDOK is a participating station in both the EAS and Amber Alert notification systems as a monitoring station.

WQAL

WQAL provides regular news and information updates on a daily basis, twice each hour, Monday through Friday from 5:30am through 9:00am. All news is locally generated and delivered. In addition, local news and information is disseminated to the community during emergencies on WQAL.

WQAL provides weather and temperatures more than twice an hour with the help of our weather partner 19 ACTION NEWS WOIO, during prime listening and updates for all National Weather Service watches and warnings. Local traffic and emergencies are handled through our partnership with Mike Stevens with Metro Traffic. Traffic is updated four times an hour between the hours of 5:30am and 9:00am and four times an hour between 3:00pm and 7:00pm. If an emergency presents itself outside of the prime rush hour(s), WQAL will break regular programming to update the audience.

WQAL is a participating station in both the EAS and Amber Alert notification systems as a monitoring station.

WQAL Community PSA's are on Q104 on our STREAM and are posted on Q104.com.

WQAL also airs "Cleveland Connection with Jim McIntyre" 6am Sunday Mornings.
