Dear FCC:

I support the merger of Sirius/XM.

As a consumer, I feel that the merger of Sirius/XM has very little downside, and a huge upside. The biggest benefit will be the survival of satellite radio, which at this point is very questionable due to the huge costs involved for both parties. I am "lifetime" subscriber (as is my wife) and having that level of investment, I am very concerned about the welfare of this merger. We use iPod's, terrestrial radio, CD's, internet based stations as well as satellite. We in no way see satellite as a monopoly, it has way to many other options to have a stranglehold on any market.

Please allow this terrific service to continue. We live in a rural area and really value this product.

Sincerely,

Don Peck
