

Hello Five Confused Commissioners:

It is a shame that in a democracy still there are pockets where so few people have the power they can abuse without consequences, or is it sheer incompetence. I hope this Politburo will soon come to a conclusion, one way or the other.

This decision is a reflection of the dead end this democracy sits at this point in time. The corruption that permeates the system is obvious. Senators, Congressmen and Commissioners, are all on the take and, it is lovingly called, campaign contributions.
