

Hello Five Corrupt Commissioners:

Today we were informed by your esteemed Chaiman that three of you have not reached a decision on this Docket. The DOJ decided on this matter late March and the item was circulated on June 17. In a nutshell, at least three of you have been MIA on this matter.

The stupidity of you three is not out of line with the image of government employees. The favorable rating of our elected officials reached a single digit. What a country! Whose backs did you scratch (u get my drift) to get this job?

I understand some of the single digit politicians have been bribed by the NAB, Georgetown and other opposers. And, the same corrupt politicians will be sitting on your future confirmation hearings, if any. And, that possibility scares the manure out of you as your self interest trumps your fiduciary responsibility in the current salary drawing position. Your current oath of office requires you to job your job as an independent body.

This matter has exposed your corruption to the core. Your conduct is beyond shame.

Can any one explain how this foot dragging advances public's best interest. It seems you are too stupid to see the negative consequences of your inactions, on the consumer.

Make a decision now, one way or the other. Stop holding these busnisses hostage for your self interest. Or better yet, resign!
