

Spreading My Imagination

Net Neutrality is essential to free speech, equal opportunity and economic innovation in America. Since the FCC removed this basic protection in 2005, the top executives of phone and cable companies have stated their intention to become the Internet's gatekeepers and to discriminate against Web sites that don't pay their added tolls.

This grand change would make it harder for me to post my artwork online. I love to draw and I love to share it with others. I do not know how I would be able to post my work if the sites I go to were made 'lower ranking' if net neutrality disappeared. All sites should have equal opportunity show others, like myself, can share their lives and thoughts.