(4) SLD's Reason for Funding Denial

“30% or more of this FRN includes a request for AlertNow Rapid Attendance Communication (Saf-t-net Inc.) which is an ineligible product (s) service (s) ***.”
Exhibit A

It's unclear from the Administrator's Denial whether the Denial is because 30% or more of the FRN relates to Telecommunications (the FRN was filed as Internet Access), or whether the 30% relates to some other issue.

(5) AlertNow Rapid Attendance Communication (“Alertnow”) is an allowable service/product. AlertNow can use either:

- Web-based service (E-mail)

- Landline phones
- Cell phones

All three (3) are Priority One USF services.

As stated on the Item 21 Attachment, Alertnow Rapid Attendance Communication is for “rapid access notification for attendance communications” for the Windber Area School District. Exhibit B

Pursuant to its website, http://www.alertnow.com/02_00.html, Alertnow operates in the following manner:

Situations ranging from severe weather and power outages to gas leaks or any situation that causes a school to evacuate, relocate, or lockdown are considered emergencies. The message is instantly broadcasted to the preferred devices selected by the recipients, such as landline phones, mobile phones or e-mail devices. AlertNow is not dependent on local electric power, phone or Internet connectivity.

The ability for schools to communicate immediately and reliably during a crisis is invaluable. A crisis situation can happen at any moment. AlertNow provides an instant, proven communications solution to notify parents and staff within minutes. AlertNow provides capabilities to create, edit and delete content for voice, e-mail and text-to-speech templates within the AlertNow Message Center. The Web-based administration tool guides users through various procedures step-by-step. Authorized users can set up accounts and an unlimited number of distribution groups, schedule messages for distribution, manage contact lists and view reports.

AlertNow allows school administrators to keep teachers, students and parents updated quickly and efficiently with and helps a parent stay actively involved in the student's education. AlertNow has the ability to:

- reach thousands of parents in minutes
- send notifications even when school phone lines are down
- rapidly deliver information for emergency and non-emergency situations
- perform polls and surveys
- quell rumors before they get out of hand
- boost fundraising efforts
- notify parents when lunch balances are running low
- send reminders on field trip forms, PTA meetings, etc.

Parental involvement is directly related to the success of students. AlertNow helps schools throughout the country improve parent involvement in the educational community by delivering important and/or time sensitive information while engaging any specific audience with a unique message that can be recorded in a familiar authoritative voice. As an industry innovator and expert, AlertNow will transform the way that your school communicates.

The Joint Explanatory Statement of the Committee of the Conference makes it clear that "the ability of K-12 classrooms to obtain access to advanced telecommunications services is critical. No one would question parental involvement in the education process. Actually, it is the lack of parental involvement in the classroom that is the issue nationwide.

AlertNow is the perfect tool, whether via Telecommunications or Internet access that supports K-12 classroom learning, e.g., it helps a parent, stay actively involved in the student's education.

The Bishop Perry Order states:

 applicants committed minor errors in filling out their application forms. For example, among other problems, applicants inadvertently forgot to fill in a box, had computer problems, used an outdated form that requests primarily the same information as the current one, or misread the instructions. We do not believe that such minor mistakes warrant the complete rejection of each of these applicants' E-rate applications, especially given the requirements of the program and the thousands of applications filed each year. Importantly, applicants' errors could not have resulted in an advantage for them in the processing of their application. That is, the applicants' mistakes, if not caught by USAC, could not have resulted in the applicant receiving more funding than it was entitled to. In addition, at this time, there is no evidence of waste, fraud or abuse, misuse of funds, or a failure to adhere to core program requirements. Furthermore, we find that the denial of funding requests inflicts undue hardship on the applicants. In these cases, we find that the applicants have demonstrated that rigid compliance with the application procedures does not further the purposes of section 254(h) or serve the public interest. Request for Review of the Decision of the Universal Service Administrator by Bishop Perry Middle School, et al., Schools and Libraries Universal Service Support Mechanism, File Nos. SLD-487170, et al., CC Docket No. 02-6, Order, 21 FCC Rcd. 5316, 5319-20, 5326-27, Para 11 Released: May 19, 2006 [Emphases Added]

Specifically, the Bishop Perry Order states in clear language "Importantly, applicants' errors could not have resulted in an advantage for them in the processing of their application." Id. Since, AlertNow can either be Internet Access or Telecommunications, both Priority One service, an error, if any, did not result in an advantage to Windber. No substantive violation was committed; a violation, if any, was procedural in nature, and minor Id., Para 19, 23 This Commission's directive to guard against waste, fraud, and abuse, and ensuring that funds disbursed through the E-rate program are used for appropriate purposes is not compromised. Funding AlertNow is in the Public Interest

(6) The rule states that, “[i]f 30 percent or more of a request for discounts made in an FCC Form 471 is for ineligible services, the request shall be denied in its entirety.”¹ See 47 C.F.R. § 54.504(d). The Administrator states that “30% or more of this FRN includes a request for AlertNow Rapid Attendance Communication (Saf-t-net Inc.) which is an ineligible product (s) service (s) ***.”

There is no statement in the denial that specifically identifies the 30% ineligible service or product. Exhibit A

In Aiken County Public Schools this Commission stated, in relevant part:

 Petitioners’ requests for E-rate funding were erroneously denied in full by USAC because USAC improperly determined that more than 30 percent of each of the funding requests was for ineligible services. We reverse USAC’s decisions for the Group A Petitioners. We find that in eight cases, USAC appears to have denied funding based on a misunderstanding of the services the petitioners were seeking to have funded. In two cases, we find that some, although not all, of the services USAC deemed ineligible were eligible. In five other cases, we agree with the petitioners that improper labeling or a misleading response by the service provider caused USAC to treat the requested services as ineligible. In three cases, ineligible services exceeded 30 percent of the funding request only because USAC overstated the amounts attributable to the ineligible services it identified.¹ In four other instances, we agree with the petitioners that, although they failed to follow USAC’s recommendation that they request eligible Priority One services separately from Priority Two services, their entire funding requests should not have been treated as Priority Two services simply because more than 30 percent of their funding requests were for Priority Two services.”

For the Group B Petitioners, we find that good cause exists to justify a waiver of section 54.504(d) of the Commission’s rules. Accordingly, we permit these petitioners to revise their funding requests to remove ineligible services. Eight petitioners acknowledge that they made errors by requesting discounts on ineligible services, but claim that the errors were accidental.¹ Nine other petitioners appear to have expected that USAC would give them a chance to correct any errors. In seven cases, the petitioners erroneously sought cellular phone services that were not eligible in the funding year in which they sought them.¹ Lastly, some petitioners seem to have misunderstood that some of the services they requested were not eligible we find that good cause exists to waive the Commission's 30 percent rule to allow the petitioners to remove ineligible services from their funding requests. We find that, for the reasons described below, a waiver is warranted and in the public interest. We believe that the petitioners made good faith efforts to exclude the ineligible services from their funding requests and expect that the petitioners would have done so if informed by USAC that the requested services were ineligible. We note that those tasked with working on E-rate applications are typically school administrators, technology coordinators, teachers and librarians who may have little experience with distinguishing between eligible and ineligible services for the E-rate program. This may be particularly true of staff at small school districts or libraries.¹ We also note that the relevant technologies and service offerings are constantly improving and evolving, and the Commission's eligible services list is modified on an annual basis.

we find that denying the petitioners' requests would create undue hardship and prevent these otherwise eligible schools and libraries from receiving funding that they need to bring advanced telecommunications and information services to their students and patrons. By contrast, waiving the 30 percent rule for these petitioners and granting only the portions of these requests that are for eligible services will further the goal of section 254² of the Act – ensuring access to discounted telecommunications and information services to schools and libraries – and therefore serve the public interest.¹ In particular, we believe that by directing USAC to provide applicants with an opportunity to justify the requested services as eligible or remove ineligible services from their funding requests, we will provide for a more effective application processing system and ensure that eligible schools and libraries are able to realize the intended benefits of the E-rate program as the Commission considers additional steps to reform and improve the E-rate program.¹ Requiring USAC to take these additional steps will not reduce or eliminate any application review procedures or lessen the program requirements.

While an Applicant must submit complete and accurate information to USAC as part of the application review process, the Administrator should tell the Applicant what it did wrong. What is it that the Administrator finds in the application that violates the 30 % rule?

¹ Telecommunications Act of 1996, Sec (6) of 254. Universal Service states, in relevant part, that Elementary Secondary schools and classrooms should have access to advanced telecommunications services, and Sec (7) states, in relevant part, that the Commission shall take into account advances in telecommunications and information technologies and services. The Joint Explanatory Statement of the Committee of the Conference makes it clear that “the ability of K-12 classrooms to obtain access to advanced telecommunications services is critical” See, Conference Report, February 1, 1996, Pg 132

Conclusion:

AlertNow s the perfect tool, whether via Telecommunications or Internet access that supports K-12 classroom learning, e.g., it helps a parent, stay actively involved in the student's education in a school district of 1393 students. Exhibit C

The Following Action is requested by the FCC:

- (a) Within 90 days or less Order funding for the telecommunications services requested in the 471 Application, specifically: FRN: 1678583
- (b) Set aside funds to totally fund FRN: 1678583
- (c) Waive the 30% Rule if it is applicable.
