

There should be a cap on these cables services from skyrocketing rates the way they do all the time. Every other month it's something else added or raised.

In the 1980's, cable was $10. Now the rates are just about unreachable by most and especially in these bad economy times, rates should not be going up. They are OUT OF CONTROL. Pretty soon it will cost $100 to watch the damn TV. It is outrageous that the FCC allows these companies to raise these rates out of control and everybody knows it and agrees.

There should be a cap on all of these things so they are not ripping off the people as they are now! Allot of people will be canceling their services soon as things get worse, and they will. I would be willing to bet, if too many people canceled these unnecessary utilities, that all of a sudden the cable companies would be raising thier rates AGAIN to current customers to compensate their problems.

We as the public should not have to overcome their problems and pay more because of this. Eventually, everyone will cancel these services and then where will these companies be?? Should have left the prices lower so people can afford to pay for them!!
