

I saw two more houses being emptied of furniture today in my development. I assume there were two more foreclosures.

So I guess I better set aside some more money for the cable company. In a rational world when people leave a house ALL of the utilities would be turned off. Not so here. BrightHouse Networks will continue to demand payment for these properties so all the other neighbors, or at least the ones paying the HOA dues, will have to pay more. So much for that discount the cable industry speaks so glowingly of as their rationale for the FCC to allow them to use exclusive, looonnnggg term contracts to provide service (i.e. robbery) to MDU's.

I suppose it is too much to ask for the FCC commissioners to reach a decision soon on this debacle.