

We have used a TV Guardian for about 10 years. We initially got it for viewing movies, but since the standards on regular tv programming have become so relaxed we use it all the time. My youngest son is not allowed to watch any tv programs rated with L for language unless he watches using the tv guardian. I don't like hearing God's name taken in vain. The tv guardian allows me to watch tv and not have to worry about hearing language we don't use in our home. The close captioning allows the tv guardian to catch the bad language and change it into something acceptable. It seems to work about 99% of the time. It would be great to have the freedom to use the internet, ipods, HD cable, direct tv, or computer and not have to worry about what me or my children might hear. Without the Tv Guardian our tv and movie viewing is very limited. I would especially like to see the Tv guardian features for video games systems. My son has an xbox 360 and so many of the games have strong language. It would be great to be able to protect our children from having to hear the language and still be able to enjoy the games. His game playing is also limited because of the language in the games.

If the tv guardian were no longer available, there would not be much tv programming we would still view. We don't go to the movie theater much because of the language in the films. With the tv guardian we are able to view the movie at home when it is available for video rental and not have to hear the bad language. If the tv guardian were not available, we would not be watching many movies either.

Please adopt the tv guardian features into as many devices as you can. This would certainly give us more options for our viewing and listening pleasure. It would be worth it to me to pay a little extra each month in order to have this choice.

Thank you,

Barbara
