

I have and use a TV Guardian. When I look for electronic equipment I try to buy ones that have it installed in the equipment, but there are not very many that do. I do not like to listen to foul language nor like my children to hear it. We avoid programs that have foul language and sexual scenes. To have something like TV Guardian to filter media as it comes into your home would be great. Thank You, Rick Jensen