

I currently utilize TV Guardian to censor foul language on DVD's and VHS recordings. It works great! When my last DVD player went out, I had trouble finding a DVD player with TV Guardian capabilities. I strongly recommend having TV Guardian available to consumers. Since the stand alone unit will not work on HD TV's it is imperative that it be available through the units themselves or through the cable/satellite. I would also like to have it available for use on videos that are downloaded from the internet to personal computers and ipods. I can relax and enjoy movies and TV shows without worrying that my young children are being exposed to foul language. Thank you for considering this matter.
