

I'd like to recommend to the FCC that they would make it mandantory for all TV manufacturers and/or cable providers include a monitoring device called TV Guardian (TVG).

We've had a TVG device in our home for about 10 years now. In fact, we are on the 3rd device. So this should say something about how we feel about this device.

Basically, we can keep all offensive language and specific comments that use the name of the Lord in vain, away from our ears and eyes. The closed caption keeps the language filtered, so we see the other words spoken but not the offensive ones.

We would be lost without this device. TV and movies have sunkly so deeply into offensive language that it is common for swear words to appear. Words, which 10 years ago, would have not been allowed, are now commonplace. Why is that? Have we sunk so low that swearing it an acceptable way to communicate?

What are we teaching our children? Swearing is cool. If they (those who our children look up to) can do it, then it is cool for me to do it.

God help us. Remember, one time we were One Nation Under God.

Thank you for your consideration.
