

To Whom It May Concern:

It is exciting news that the FCC is considering furthering the influence and sphere of the TV Guardian system. Before we purchased our TV Guardian we were ready to sell our TV, but now my family is once again able to watch movies with confidence.

We would most definitely further our sphere of television viewing if the TV Guardian were available in other mediums.

Thank-you so much for considering opening up a new horizon for this much needed equipment for family television viewing.
