

Today a local reporter in Tampa gave an informative report on how to reduce expenses in these tough times.

His first piece of advice, drop cable TV service and get service free by using an antenna.

If only it were that easy. Unfortunately, many of us are stuck with long term exclusive contracts cooked up between the developer and a provider and must take cable TV and internet services whether we want them or can afford them. In the words of the reporter "Now doesn't that STINK!".
