

Women rights in Islam

A Bahraini society has taken initiative on the International Mother Day to highlight the teaching of Holy Quran in relation to the women rights. Accordingly it has launched a series of discussions, seminars spread over the next six months which will be attended to by scholars, MPs, government officials, civil society. This debate will not be conclusive unless the Society invites the Advocate Fatima Al Hawaj to enrich the audience from reference from Islamic teachings that the gang rape of a women by people of 21, 20 and 19 years age was not a criminal act rather a harmless fun in the Islam.
