

I understand that foul language filtering technology is being offered to cable and satellite companies for free -- those that want to use it can pay a small fee for it -- and these companies have the ability to download the software into most existing cable/satellite boxes... still, the industry refuses to give families this individual control.

I feel the cable and satellite companies should give parents the option of using these parenting tools just because it's good business. This technology will even increase profits for them since filtering out language makes more TV shows and movies OK for family viewing.

I hope you will make this happen for the sake of our kids.

Thanks