

I think the cable/satellite companies should have controls so parents can block out the language and or programs.