

Of late, there have been an alarming number of increasingly inappropriate programs that have found their way onto the airwaves during prime time. Obscene language, graphic violence and/or gratuitous sex have been showcased in these shows, and we have had to drastically reduce the number of stations that are allowed into our living room (or any other room, for that matter). I thought that it is your responsibility to judge what is appropriate for viewing during hours that children might be watching, but apparently someone has fallen asleep and has not been the "protector" of our children. Please allow advanced parental control technology that should be made available for filtering offensive content in TV programming and movies.
