

Advanced parental control technology SHOULD be made available for filtering offensive content in TV programming and movies; whether viewed on TV, over the Internet, cable, satellite, DVD Players, Blu-Ray Players, gaming consoles, or other video devices...

The software for this technology must be built into the cable/satellite boxes and TVs to work with HD televisions. The companies have the ability to download the software into most existing cable/satellite boxes also and still, the industry refuses to give families this individual control.

We want the power to control what comes across any of our devices.

Thank You,

Ryan James
