

Please do whatever you can to limit the foul language on tv. There is already so much degrading material in our society. Putting foul language on TV -- as already happens just legitimizes it. Cable TV already play pornographic material through their "community outreach program. In Pittsburgh PA on the Pittsburgh community cable I watched in horror as explicit sexual material was played without any kind of "rating" for the material. When I contact the city council, they said their hands were tied. When I contacted the cable company, they said they could not do anything about it. Our country is already sliding down the abyss of uneducated people with a total inability to communicate without swearing and using foul language. For many a sentence is not complete without a "F... this" or B...., or What the H... do you think you are F..... doing ... I think that you should consider going every further than this in limited foul language and explicit sexuality on the air waves. But this is a first step.
