

No this is not telecommunication in a way that is measurable which is a prerequisite to charging. I only use a service for Amateur Radio Operators called Echolink but my use is sporadic and I would hate to have to remove this service rather than pay a flat rate for it on a monthly basis.