

Foul language filtering technology should be made available for TV, cable, satellite and other devices that show TV programs and movies. Software for this technology must be built into the cable/satellite boxes and TVs to work with HD televisions.