

Bus Radio undermines the best interests of children, parental authority and educational principals. I object to Bus Radio because it exploits the captive audience of children riding a school bus and is deceitful and not forthright in its practices.