

Keep this off my my child's school bus. I only want my child to hear what I, as the parent, deem appropriate. Schools have NO BUSINESS deciding what my child should listen to. Their job is to get my child safely to school - and that is all. In addition, it's bad enough that kids don't have communication skills because they always have something plugged into their ears, now you want them to listen to all sorts of crap without my consent? I DON'T THINK SO!!! I don't want any kind of advertising on a public school bus.
