

People incarcerated in prisons and jails became street criminals through the abuse this system heaps on people. They should be permitted a semblance of care if only for the sake of the caretakers. Abuse is worse to the person who applies it than to the victim - well, maybe not worse, but just as bad.

Permit supportive phone calls without charge! They can calm the prison population. Nothing like humane treatment to reduce stress.