

Why don't I have choice of selecting channels I want to watch and pay for that. I am forced to pay for Spanish, even though I don't understand it. I have a choice of Cable, Satellite or Verizon, FIOS, but their packaging is such that I am forced to take hundreds of unnecessary channels. Cable companies cry that it will cost more for consumers if allowed to choose. So let us worry about that. Cablevision just won a victory to be able to provide DVR at their site and keep programming on per TV basis. Another cheaper alternative is to channel in groups and let people buy groups - Spanish, News, Sports, Music, Science, etc. I hope someone out there is looking for consumers who seem to have no voice except for these lonely letters.
