

Comcast is making the US government DTV conversion quite complicated for consumers in an effort to use it as their own profit making scheme. Comcast now claims they are doing their own "digital conversion" to make things more complicated for no CATV savvy consumers. Comcasts effort to bilk customers by leasing them useless equipment Comcast has made necessary for old CATV customers to receive channel 10 and 11. It's a scam for COMCAST to profit from the public and make the government look inept. I went to Comcast and told the rep, "CATV subscribers don't need anything for the "digital conversion." She said "You mean the governments conversion or "Comcasts?" I am a savvy technician and this is a clear case that needs some sort of class action suit. Comcast has convinced people they need to lease additional equipment to watch TV because of "the governments DTV conversion." Comcast is involved in very deceptive business practices.
