

Comment on the consumer benefit of the merger: I've had SIRIUS for many years, when I bought a new car with XM I wanted to add it to my SIRIUS account. Same company now, right? No, the XM lady said that FCC would not allow the 2 companies to merge their billing systems(?) so I had to maintain 2 separate primary accounts for about $30 monthly (includes 2x royalty fee which of course they have no control over (right) So much for consumer benefit from the merger. Although I am so sick of both companies that I'm going to cancel both so I guess there is an indirect benefit because now I can listen to radio for free and not pay anybody or be annoyed. So thanks!
