

Technology moves so fast I think you seriously need to consider where things are now and look at where the trends point for future technology to avoid pouring billions into something that will be outdated in 5-10 years. I would consult with MIT and some other universities as well as some of the top CTO's of IBM, Cisco, HP, Dell, etc... I tend to think wireless makes the most sense to deploy on the type of scale were talking about here. Wi-Max seems to be a hot item right now and more and more people are using their cell phone providers for internet access be an Aircard or Teathering. Something to keep in mind.
