

I think a la cart pricing is a must. I realize the costs involved for the companies makes this difficult but if there could be a minimum base package and then either individual channel options or smaller packages of two to four related channels