

I would like to let you know that I am in support of paying for only for cable channels I select. Currently, I have a bundled package, and while I do not have any "premium" channels, there are still a lot of channels I don't care to have. While some will say I should just block them with my TV controls, I feel I should be able to "pick 'n pay" only for channels I want. Why should I pay for 20 + channels I never watch? Thank you for your time.
