

We have been trying to get High Speed Internet (DSL) for about the last ten years. We tried Direct PC when it became available. We put up with terrible service until we switched to Wild Blue through North Land Connect. We discovered that satellite internet was expensive and weather would interrupt/stop the service. We were finally told DSL was available here. We got DSL on 9/02/09 and could only get the 1.5Mb DS that is running from 1Mb to under 1.3Mb. Average is about 1.2Mb. Found out that qwest had DSL at the central office for the last 3 years but told us it was not available in our area.
