

Please grant Verizon's petition. To allow a cableco to restrict high definition distribution of a regional sports network over which it has sole ownership and control for the singular purpose of giving it a competitive advantage over its only competition is anathema to our antitrust jurisprudence. I want my New York Rangers in HD. I even have half an interest in seeing the Knicks in HD (despite Cablevision's persistent attempts to destroy the franchise). I shouldn't be deprived of the ability to watch these teams in high definition simply because I am a Verizon customer.
