RE: Oct. 22, 2009 Open Meeting-Broadband Industry Practices-WC Docket 07-52

Dear Commission:

At a time when much of our nation continues to struggle with the effects of a deep recession, it may seem tempting to inject more government spending and regulation into all aspects of our lives. Unfortunately, such a move could prove ill-advised for the wireless industry.

I read that the "net neutrality" issue is a key component of your mobile broadband agenda. Yet nothing could do more harm to an industry that has flourished and grown in the past 30 years thanks in large part to an environment of competition and little regulation from federal officials.

Let's let competition run this market and not government regulation.

Sincerely,
