Dear Ms. Dortch:

On December 16, 2009, Sprint Nextel Corporation (“Sprint Nextel”) representatives Lawrence Krevor, Vice President, Government Affairs; Richard Engelman, Director, Spectrum Resources-Government Affairs; and Michele Farquhar of Hogan & Hartson, LLP, Counsel to Sprint Nextel, had a telephone conference with Stagg Newman, Chief Technologist of the FCC’s Omnibus Broadband Team.

During the conference, the Sprint Nextel representatives discussed the company’s proposals to expedite and advance wireless broadband deployment, innovation and investment in the FCC’s broadband policy proceedings, highlighting the need for the FCC to: (1) facilitate the availability of cost-effective backhaul and timely tower siting; (2) unleash spectrum for commercial mobile broadband use; (3) timely and vigorously enforce relocation and technical rules; (4) continue flexible and efficient licensing of mobile broadband spectrum; and (5) adopt a practical, functional and user-driven definition of broadband.
