

Please protect Net Neutrality. In a world where corporations just get bigger and bigger and individuals lose more and more power, the internet is one really great way for the little guy to still have a voice, and some power.