

Please stand up for the little people and against the large corporations that want to restrict internet access/flow. As a citizen, I use the internet to learn about issues and candidates and stay current on local, national, and international news. As a consumer I use it to find products, books, magazines, and music that may be outside the mainstream but suit my needs and likes. Except for illegal uses such as child porn, the internet should be wide open and free.