

Net Neutrality is the cornerstone of innovation, free speech and democracy on the Internet.

The FCC must protect Net Neutrality by enacting strong rules that keep the Internet free from blocking, censorship and discrimination and ensure that Internet service providers disclose all efforts to manage content.

The merger of two or more cable-internet giants has never yet produced a single benefit to the consumers of this great nation. Competition has always been the key to consumer benefit in a supposedly free-market society like ours. It is essential to preserve that competition to provide the best possible service to the consumers who are already forced to buy what should be free - internet access, not unlike airwave access.

Disallow the proposed merger of Comcast and AT&T. Let's avoid another AT&T break-up disaster in the future by preventing it now.

More than 1.6 million Americans have already called for Net Neutrality protections. Please stand with us by passing a strong Net Neutrality rule.
