

This would be the last straw for me, as, if net neutrality falls, there will be no way you could convince me that this is a democracy and not some thinly-veiled, fascistic corporatocracy. I WILL LEAVE THIS COUNTRY, if corporations take the last vestiges of free speech away from its people. This is NOT America.