

Net neutrality is critical to spreading freedom and enlightenment around the world and freedom will only spread thru global internet access to ideas without censure. There's nothing more powerful than a living example. The medium is the message, a free internet is global freedom.