

The airwaves are a tax-paying public commodity. As such it's the FCC's duty to protect equality and net neutrality to the laws governing the internet. The internet is a vital medium by which citizens are informed of the news and dissemination of ideas needed for a healthy democracy. All persons regardless of income or fee deserve access to a neutral internet.