

Absent Net Neutrality, individuals and groups of individuals in the U.S. will be denied equal access to the internet. I don't agree with all of them and neither do you; but there is this one unassailable fact that must be acknowledged: the wealthy property-owners and (many) slave-holding Framers of our Constitution somehow failed to reserve all free expression to their kind alone. You may regret this, but you are stuck with it.

Please remember this.
