

I support the right to free speech, and feel that big cable companies and other corporations should not be able to determine what websites and content are available to the general public. The public soap box has moved online, and we need to be very careful about limiting or censoring speech online.

thank you for your attention to my concerns.